Britain Backs U. S. Military Aid to Lebanon

Troops Not Taking Part in Action, Commons Told

London —(AP)— Britain today announced full support for American military action in Lebanon, but British troops are not taking part. Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said.

Lloyd told a tense session of the house of commons that British forces in the region — presumably the East Mediterranean — have been alerted in case of emergency.

The foreign secretary said the United States informed Britain in advance of her decision to intervene "to preserve the independence and integrity" of Lebanon.

The American decision "has the full support of her majesty's government," Lloyd said.

Jeered by Laborites British opposition laborites greeted his statement with jeers and cries of "another Suez!"

The socialist lawmakers, who had vigorously opposed the British-French attack on Egypt in 1956, drowned parts of Lloyd's speech with shouts of "shame" — specifically when Lloyd announced that American forces at that moment were landing at Beirut.

Lloyd stressed that the American intervention is taking place at the request of President Camille Chamoun.

In Paris U. S. Delegate Randolph Burgess informed his colleagues on the NATO permanent council of the American decision just minutes before the marines waded ashore.

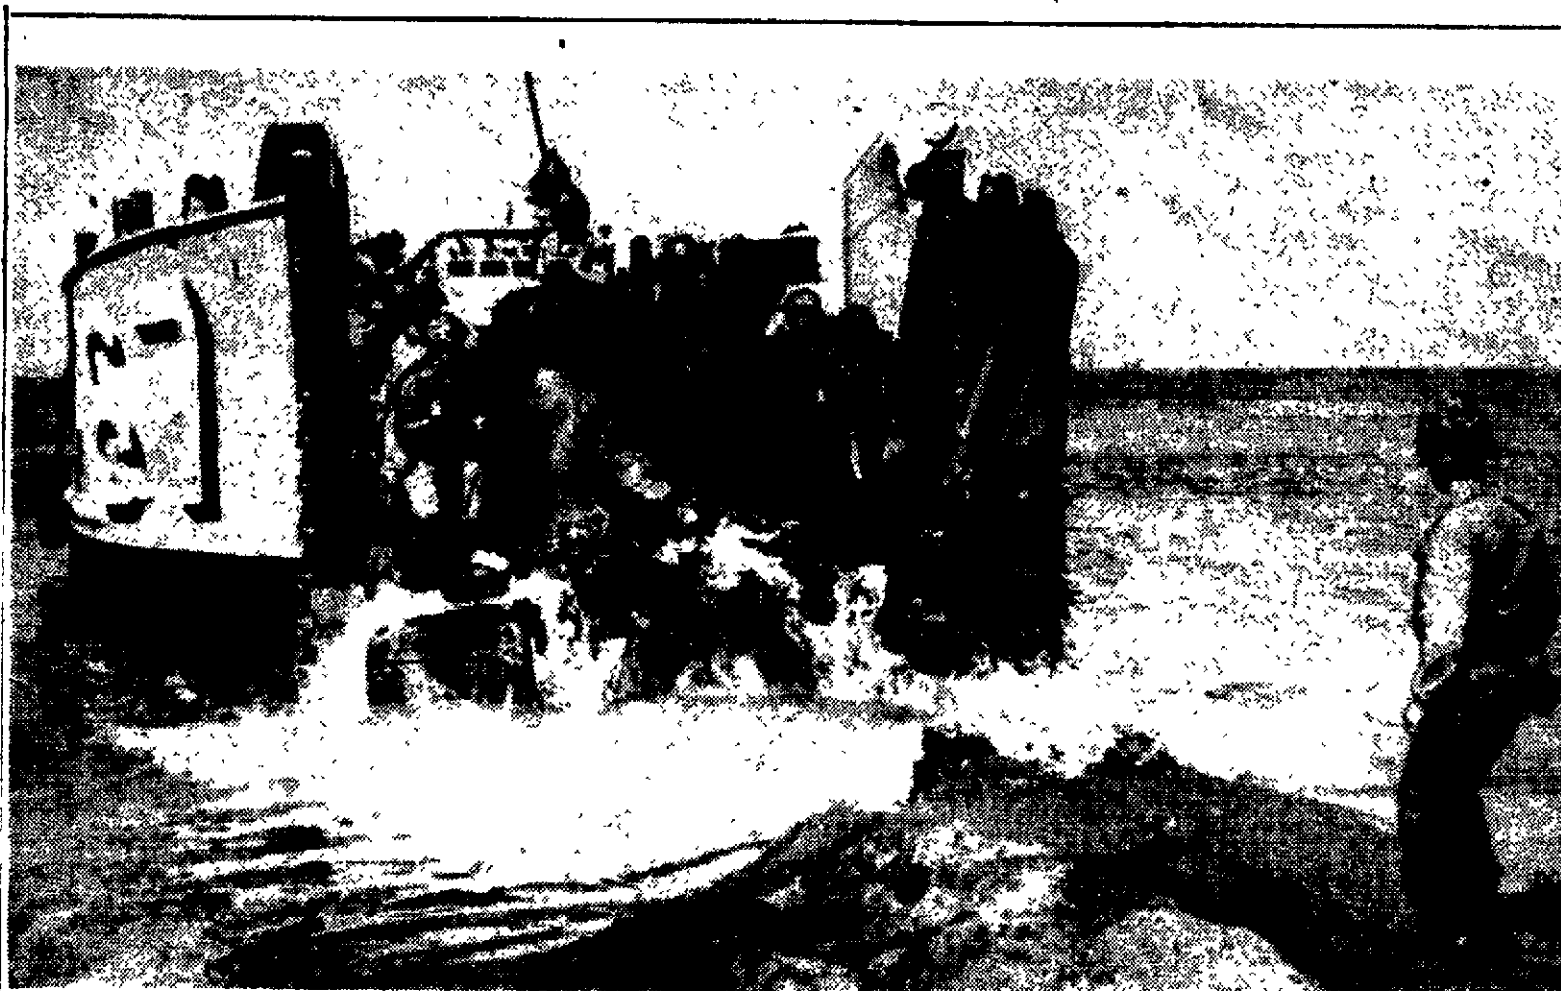

NATO Conference
Premier Charles de Gaulle immediately summoned an emergency cabinet meeting. At supreme headquarters, allied powers in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad held urgent consultations on the Middle East crisis with top allied commanders.

Lloyd told parliament the British government considers it necessary to preserve Lebanese independence and integrity in the crisis that has deepened with the uprising in Iraq.

Lloyd did not rule out the future use of British troops alongside the Americans in Lebanon.

"British troops are not taking part in this operation. Eisenhower planned to talk British forces in the area have, however, been alerted," Lloyd told the house.

The statement of the foreign secretary created the impression among legislators that the British may await the outcome of United Nations action before deciding to intervene themselves.

Ike Denies Act Of War Implied By U. S. Decision

Top Democrats In Congress Give Him Prompt Support

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington —(AP)— The United States took the fateful step today of throwing American military force into the seething Middle East.

Five thousand marines began moving ashore—by invitation—in embattled Lebanon.

The White House announced the landing of the marines near Beirut in a statement by President Eisenhower which denied explicitly that they had been sent in "as any act of war."

The statement said the move was made in response to an urgent request from President Chamoun. It said the troops will be pulled out as soon as the United Nations has taken adequate action to protect the sovereignty and integrity of Lebanon.

Under U. N. Charter
This country will support any such U. N. action, Eisenhower continued. He declared the United States' own action was taken under the U. N. charter's provision for collective self-defense.

The move drew immediate backing from top Democrats at the capitol.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the senate Democratic leader, said that in the judgment of the president the action was "necessary to preserve freedom in the Middle East." Johnson added:

"Americans will certainly unite when the security of the free world is imperiled."

Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, house Democratic leader, said that "under the circumstances there was no other course he (Eisenhower) could take. There was no other road but that of appeasement."

The Pentagon, which as late as last night had been insisting that only "normal" precautionary military moves were being made in the Mediterranean area, announced the assignment of a special command under Adm. James L. Holloway to take charge of the landing operation.

Holloway was en route from London. He will take charge of what is called a "specified" command. That means his staff will include representatives of all the forces involved.

Set to Leave When UN Outlines Action

BY EDWIN A. SHANKE

Beirut—(AP)—The marines have landed in Lebanon. The vanguard of 5,000 U. S. leathernecks ordered here by President Eisenhower went ashore today from the 6th fleet, little more than 24 hours after a pro-Nasser revolt had overthrown the government of Iraq.

The action came as the United Nations Security council gathered in New York to deal with threats to peace in this area. President Eisenhower said U. S. use of the troops will end when the security council "has itself taken the measures necessary to maintain international peace and security."

President Eisenhower said marines were sent at the request of Lebanese President Camille Chamoun to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

The first marines landed from 12 landing craft at Khalde beach just south of this revolt-torn capital. They came ashore from seven small warships which appeared offshore.

The marines marched off to Beirut's airport, which had been closed a few hours earlier, perhaps for the landing of troop carriers.

U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock urged the 2,500 Americans in Lebanon to leave the country. Ten U. S. embassy families left today, including the wife and son of the ambassador.

Embassy Periled
Pan American Airways in London had a report that the U. S. embassy in Baghdad was surrounded by rebels. The British embassy there was sacked and burned by the rebels yesterday.

The Baghdad radio reported again today that 70-year-old Premier Nuri Said had been beaten to death by a mob. Earlier the radio had admitted its claims of his death yesterday were not true and that he had escaped.

The dog of imperialism was killed by the people and his body taken to the palace of justice in Baghdad," the latter broadcast declared.

Baghdad said yesterday that Corwin Prince Abdul Ilah had been hanged on display in front of the same palace.

The offer of a reward for Nuri Said had raised speculation that he was among friendly tribesmen and was stirring up resistance. His friends in Beirut claimed fighting was still going on in Baghdad.

Strong British and American naval forces were moving into the eastern Mediterranean. Fifteen ships of the U. S. 6th fleet, including the 33,100-ton carrier Wasp had left Naples on sudden orders, and 11 others hauled in their sailors from

Talk on Economic Aid for Panama

Panama —(AP)— Dr. Milton Eisenhower planned to talk about better inter-American relations today on a deep sea fishing trip with Panama's president Ernesto de La Guardia, Jr.

President Eisenhower's brother said he would discuss economic aid with de La Guardia, including long and short-term credits to Panama.

Lodge Calls for Urgent UN Action in Mideast Crisis

Stresses America Wants to Withdraw as Soon as Possible

United Nations, N. Y.—(AP)— The United States called today for urgent U. N. action to stabilize the explosive Middle East and make possible the speedy withdrawal of newly landed American forces in Lebanon.

The appeal was made by U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge who formally notified the security council of the landing of the marines.

Lodge told the council the critical situation in Lebanon, Iraq and other pro-western countries was being stimulated, and aided by powerful outside forces, which were resorting to indirect aggression to overthrow legitimate governments.

He did not identify these forces except to repeat U. S. charges that President Nasser's United Arab Republic had been aiding Lebanese rebels.

Wants Quick Withdrawal
Lodge declared he hoped the landing of U. S. forces "will bring stability and that United States forces now being sent into Lebanon can promptly be withdrawn."

Lebanese Delegate Karim Azkoul charged that convoys of arms and men are pouring across the Syrian border into Lebanon despite the presence of U. N. observers.

He urged the council to take more effective measures.

Meanwhile, he said, his government had asked the direct assistance of friendly countries, adding:

"It is understood that this assistance is to be temporary and that it is to continue only until the council has taken the action the government of Lebanon asks it to take."

Britain's Sir Pierson Dixon said his government fully supports the landing of U. S. forces in Lebanon.

Lodge linked the Iraqi coup with the Lebanese rebellion.

Lodge told the 11-nation council he planned to confer urgent with Secretary Gen. Dag Hammarskjold on measures to handle the situation which he called one of the most serious ever faced by the U. N.

Help From Outside
Lodge took the floor after the Soviet Union had tried unsuccessfully to oust the representative of the overthrown Iraqi government from the council.

Lodge told the council that the United States forces went to Lebanon at the request of President Camille Chamoun.

But he also took note of the revolution in Iraq and of past attempts on the life of Jordanian King Hussein.

He said the trouble in these countries was receiving stimulation and assistance from the outside.

Lodge informed the delegates he had received information only this morning of the slaying of Iraq's former Foreign Minister Fadhil Jamali, who had represented his country in the council only a few weeks ago.

Jamali's body, he said, had been dragged through the streets of Baghdad. He added: "Decent people everywhere

Flares Give Hope In Search for Missing Plane

Dubuque, Iowa —(AP)— An extremely faint glimmer of hope developed today in the search for a private plane missing with four persons aboard since it took off last Friday from Milwaukee.

Aerial and ground search was begun in the rugged area around Specht's Ferry, 15 miles northeast of Dubuque, after several persons reported seeing what apparently were flares Monday night.

Ralph Heller of Dubuque said he saw the light from what appeared to be two white and two red flares. Patients at St. Xavier hospital here told of seeing strange flashes of light in the general Specht's Ferry area.

Sheriff's deputies began a ground search without immediate result. Beyer Flying Service of Dubuque sent two search planes aloft and Civil Air Patrol craft were expected to join the hunt.

Goldfine's Lawyers Ask Probers to Put Dispute Into Hands of Judge

Washington —(AP)— Bernard Goldfine's lawyers asked a house subcommittee today to halt hearings and take to a judge the fight over Goldfine's refusal to answer some questions. Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) tossed cold water on the idea.

The move marked the start of Goldfine's sixth day of testimony on charges that he got favored treatment from federal regulatory agencies through his friendship with Presidential Aide Sherman Adams. He and Adams deny this.

Repeats Refusal
The subcommittee chairman threatened to cite Goldfine for contempt for not answering 23 questions about his financial affairs. Goldfine says the questions involve his private business and have nothing to do with the house inquiry into how regulatory agencies carry out the law.

Lawyer Samuel Sears restated Goldfine's refusal to answer once again today. Then Sears made the surprise move. "We suggest that the hearings be adjourned forthwith," he said, and the issue of whether the subcommittee questions are relevant or not be taken to federal district court right away.

Sears said his Boston millionaire client would be "willing to abide by the decision of the single justice, thus waiving any right of appeal."

Harris rapped his gavel and tried to shut Sears off as the lawyer sought to read a 5-page statement.

The subcommittee chairman said he intended to call a closed session this afternoon to talk over future procedure with Goldfine.

Sears' proposal, Harris declared, "Doesn't seem to me to be a proper suggestion at this time." He said he was against a congressional committee "abdicate its authority."

A split among Goldfine's

Boston and his Washington lawyers showed up prominently again.

Sears stayed with Goldfine at the witness stand. Roger Robb, Goldfine's Washington legal general, sat several feet away.

Not Told of Proposal
Robb said he had never heard of Sears' proposal to take the fight over questions to court until Sears presented it at the public session.

Nor, Robb said, had he known about a report put out by Goldfine publicity man Jack Lotto over the weekend that Goldfine's lawyers were unanimously agreed that Goldfine should appeal on the question from the subcommittee to the parent commerce committee.

Harris cuts Sears off from reading the full statement. Later, at a suggestion from Rep. Wolvorton (R-NJ) Goldfine took over reading the statement himself.

2 Americans Reported Killed in Baghdad

Washington —(AP)— Two American businessmen have been reported killed by mob action in Baghdad, capital of Iraq, the state department said today.

It reported some western Europeans possibly also were killed in the outbreak of violence yesterday in the revolt-torn capital.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White declined to give names of the Americans reported killed, saying the reports of the slayings were unconfirmed.

White said a third American escaped after being beaten.

Committee Seeks Talks On Adding to 4 Schools

Members Ask for Early Meeting on Richmond, Foster

BY JIM NEWCOMB
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Additions to four schools will be subject of talks between the board of education and the city council's newly-formed school advisory committee.

Committee Monday agreed to seek an early meeting on aldermanic proposals for more rooms at Foster and Richmond schools.

They also indicated they will use an Aug. 28 meeting with the school board, park board and board of public works to discuss additions at Roosevelt and Wilson Junior High schools.

Alderman Harold Hanne-mann has asked for more classrooms at Foster. The school was built with provision for eight more rooms.

May Have to Buy
Alderman Thomas K. Schneider has called for an 8-room addition to Richmond. The school board Monday hired an architect for a 4-room Richmond addition.

School Supt. John P. Mann has said there is room for only four rooms at Richmond, but one committeeman Monday said he believes it may be possible to buy more land.

The Aug. 28 meeting was sought by the school board after it heard reports the Roosevelt school principal asked for land at the south end of Erb park for a football field.

Talk among aldermen of additions to the two junior highs became serious when school and park boards came before the works board seeking land for a junior high and a park at the city's northwest corner. A combination school-park was mentioned, but apparently now is out of the question.

Eyebrows Raised
The Joseph Hughes property, about 40 acres in all, is suggested by the school board at $4,200 an acre. The price has caused some raised eyebrows. A decision has been postponed pending talks with the school board and town of Grand Chute property owners west of Appleton who have promised a campaign for annexation of a huge tract.

That some councilmen are serious about the Roosevelt addition is apparent in their repeated reports of Kaukauna's successful school addition program.

4 Candidates For President At Cuban Polls

BY LARRY ALLEN

Havana — Four men who want to be president of Cuba are starting to beat the bushes for votes in the elections scheduled Nov. 3.

The climate for campaigning isn't good.

Sporadic rebel bombings, sabotage, killings and the guerrilla war in Oriente province still go on.

Constitutional guarantees are suspended and a state of emergency is being enforced.

This means press, radio and television are heavily censored. Police can raid homes, arrest Cubans without a warrant, toss them into jail indefinitely and never say why.

Public assemblies are barred. The government has virtually unlimited authority to take whatever action it deems necessary to maintain order and crush "subversive movements."

List of Candidates
But the government is determined that nothing will stop the elections.

The supreme electoral council, established to arrange the November voting, is permitting candidates to address public assemblies whenever such authorization is requested.

This is the lineup of candidates:

Former Premier Andres Rivero Aguerro, 53-year-old lawyer and historian, has the personal support of President Batista and four parties backing Batista's government.

Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin is 76 and was president 1944-1948. He is the choice of the Cuban revolutionary autentic party.

Carlos Marquez Sterling, backed by the free people's party, is a shrewd, 58-year-old lawyer who served as president of Cuba's constituent assembly in 1940.

Alberto Salas Amaro, 43, is a long-time journalist and nominee of the union Cubana party.

The Candidates and Taxation

Both candidates for Wisconsin's governorship have volunteered in independently prepared press releases their view that state taxation is a prime issue.

"Issue" may be an inaccurate word for the question, since the candidates are astonishingly close together on this subject that has led to so much wild and woolly talk among other nominees for the highest political office of the state in preceding campaigns.

Gov. Thomson, who will be the Republican nominee again, says he wants a tax program next term, if new money is needed, that will be "fair and equitable," that will give special concessions to large families with low incomes, and that won't prejudice the state's chances for gaining new industry.

Sen. Nelson in effect says much the same thing, and he adds that he will refuse to commit himself to a specific tax course until he can set up, as the new governor, a commission of experts to examine the precise impact on everyone of all of the present taxes to which Wisconsin residents and corporations are subject.

Now it is perfectly evident, of course, what it is that they are so carefully avoiding by such circumlocutions. It is that ugly phrase, "sales tax."

It has become part of our political folklore that the politician cannot seem to have anything but hate in his heart for the idea of a sales tax. We believe that legend is wrong. We believe the electorate understands our tax problems better than that. But the candidates manage these affairs, and there isn't much we can do about it.

Although both these eager volunteers for the governorship are equivocating to a degree, there is perhaps some ground for congratulating them in that they have avoided the easy way, and have resisted the temptation to say what all of their predecessors have said. Evidently both men know that the next legislative term probably will put squarely before them the need for a reorganization of the Wisconsin revenue scheme — barring the unlikely chance that state and local expenditures recede.

It is apparent that both men know that the sales tax, even without exemptions, is far less "regressive," which is the word always associated with it, than the property tax on many low and middle income taxpayers. Doubtless both of them also know that it is perfectly feasible to work out a sales tax with exemptions that would be easier on the middle income groups of the population than the additional income tax which is the alternative that is usually proposed.

Thus we might wish for more candid expressions on this vital subject by men who tell us they are qualified for this exalted office. But we can also be thankful for their hesitation which is courage of a kind and progress of a sort.

Mortality Rates of Smokers

The report of the Public Health Service concerning the death rate of some 200,000 holders of U. S. government insurance policies in reference to their smoking habits does not provide a great deal of new information, as representatives of the tobacco industry point out, but it is worth repeating.

The death rate from all causes of persons who have used tobacco is 32 per cent higher than that of people who have never smoked. The death rate of cigaret smokers is 58 per cent greater than that of non-smokers, but there is no appreciable difference between cigar and pipe smokers and non-smokers. Cigaret smokers who stopped before the study began in 1954 have a lower mortality rate than those who continued smoking, but their death rate is still 31 per cent greater than for those who never smoked. Death causes which are noticeably greater for smokers than for non-smokers include cardiovascular diseases, some respiratory ailments, ulcers of the stomach and duodenum, cirrhosis of the liver, and particularly cancer of the lung.

Of course there must be qualifications to these figures since statistics never tell the whole story. Even non-smokers are going to have to die of something eventually and the use of percentage figures tends to exaggerate differences in the rates. Researchers tend to feel that the emotional need that seems to lead to excessive smoking also leads to excessive drinking, which may explain the presence of cirrhosis of the liver on the list. It may be that the whole emotional make-up of the heavy smoker tends to bring on an earlier death, and that the smoking is only incidental.

Longevity is a curious matter and the reasons given by aged people inevitably run the gamut from abstinence from almost everything to a careless acceptance of the excitements and stimulations of life. Nevertheless, the more we learn about possible ways to prolong the business of living a healthful and useful life, the wider choice the individual has.

Learn to Swim!

As summer deepens, a rash of drownings, particularly of children unable to swim, makes tragic reading. In a land of water like Wisconsin, with its numerous lakes and rivers as well as an ever-increasing number of city and private pools, the ability to swim and swim well becomes almost a requirement for survival.

Most pools not only have qualified guards on careful watch as provided by law, but a variety of safety regulations to help prevent the tragedies. The Green Bay and De Pere pool staffs clear the pool at regular intervals to be sure that no one has wound up, unobserved, in trouble. Kaukauna has a system of yearly tests for all youngsters, with a colored patch to be sewn to the bathing suit. Without the patch a youngster is not permitted in the deeper water no matter what his ability. After a tragic accident Appleton authorities are tightening safety rules.

But of course no regulation is foolproof, simply because people are not. A dizzy spell, fainting, a severe bump on the head could cause a drowning no matter how good the swimmer, how close the watch.

But certainly the best protection is the ability to swim combined with some knowledge of water safety and rescue methods. In this area where there are thorough instructions given at the pools, as well as opportunities to learn indoors during the winter months, there is little excuse for a youngster allowed to frequent water areas not to know how to swim by the time he is 10. Life saving methods, taught through the Red Cross or scouting programs, are a further safeguard for helping others. One Wisconsin youngster was brought back from the shadow of the grave this summer because attendants insisted on applying artificial respiration for over an hour before he began to breathe.

The number of drownings compared to the number of highway deaths is fractional. But a little care, a little training, a little more sense could prevent almost every one.

France Opposes Test Ban Until She Develops Bomb

From the Denver Rocky Mountain News.

President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan want a controlled nuclear ban agreement with Russia.

But they do not want to force a showdown with Gen. De Gaulle, who opposes an international ban until France has developed her own bomb.

Eisenhower and Macmillan have now accepted the Russian proposal for inclusion of Poles and Czechs in a nuclear technical conference, but insist that it meet in Geneva July 1. Russia has just asked the UN to stop our tests in the Pacific. This increases the American-British desire to find out quickly whether Russia is really interested in a first step toward nuclear control or only in propaganda.

Gaullists, while not objecting to the technicians' meeting, oppose any testing ban soon — France's first test is not expected until next spring.

It is their argument that France cannot regain her position as a great power until she has a French bomb. She cannot trust the United States and Britain. France as the real leader of Europe is the proper allied nation to lead in any East-West settlement.

America and Britain cannot accept that policy, because:

Effective nuclear control, if possible at all, increases in difficulty as the number of nuclear nations increases. It is hard enough with three. It will be virtually impossible if delayed until France gets her own bomb.

This is true not only because of French political instability, Gaullist super-nationalism, and the large French Communist sabotage apparatus.

While France is developing her bomb, others will be doing likewise — perhaps Red China, India, Egypt.

If ever the bomb is in many hands around the globe, then the danger of nuclear war destroying the world will be beyond control.

Obscure Names Become Famous

From Peoria, Ill., Journal-Star.

During World war II, it was interesting how names of obscure places suddenly became famous, as they became the sites of big battle.

Some tiny town on the edge of the North African desert would be a critical point in the struggle. It would be in the world's headlines for days. For a while it would be the most important spot on earth.

There are no big battles focusing attention on such places today, but little-known words still become famous over night.

This time it's the name of an animal — the vicuña. A month ago, few of us knew that it was a llama-like creature living in the high Andes in South America. But now, because a man named Bernard Goldfine makes coats from vicuña wool and gives them to friends, we all know about the animal.

A year from now, mention "vicuña" and a friend may ask, "What's that? A new drink?"

King Coal to Continue Reign for 20 Years

Coal will dominate the utility fuel picture for the next 20 years. By 1975, nuclear power still will be insignificant, and oil, gas and hydroelectric power will have declined in importance, Electrical World magazine reports following a special study.

A better than 3-fold increase in the utilities' use of coal from now until 1975, is predicted.

During this period, King Coal will expand his lion's share of generation from 55 per cent of the total to at least 66 per cent.

Coal transportation methods and the large capital requirements for coal production may be the top fuel problems of the future, the article suggests.

Total U. S. energy output in 1975 will be about 2.4 trillion kw-hr. Coal will supply about 1.6 trillion kw-hr, increasing its share of generation to about two-thirds of the total. With the exception of nuclear power, which has nowhere to go but up, all other fuels will provide a smaller share than they do today.

Hydro Power to Drop
Hydro power will show the biggest percentage drop, supplying only 11 per cent of the total generation in 1975. The utilities' use of oil will also decline. Although current oil reserves are more than adequate through 1957, the demand for higher-grade petroleum products will tend to keep residual oil — which today represents no more than 15 per cent of domestic refinery output — out of utilities' boilers.

For the long term, higher oil prices are in store — by 1975 probably about 40 per cent higher than the 1957 average.

Gas presents much the same price, supply and demand picture. Gas will cost the utilities twice as much in 1975 as it does today — becoming more expensive per unit than coal sometime in the late 1960's.

Gas-fueled generation reached its peak in 1954, when it accounted for 25.7 per cent of all U. S. electrical energy, but the percentage has already slipped off to 17.9 per cent, and it will probably have dropped to about 12 per cent by 1975, the magazine states.

Excellent Reserve
Coal has the most optimistic reserve picture of all the fossil fuels. The latest esti-

Shall Mob Violence Defeat Integration?

From the Miami (Fla.) News.

Entirely aside from the issue of desegregation is the principle involved (in the Little Rock case). The "intolerable" situation was created by opponents of integration. If Judge Lemley's postponement is allowed to stand it will be notice to such groups throughout the South that desegregation can be defeated by mob violence.

mate puts U. S. coal reserves at 943 billion tons, plus 525 billion tons of lignite. The magazine estimates that 152 billion tons of this (about 300 years' supply at current consumption) are mineable at present prices from deposits east of the Mississippi river alone.

More than adequate reserves, the smallest price rises, and prospects for continuation of an excellent mine production record assure coal a position of dominance for at least the next 20 years.

Coal is not expected to continue down in price. Inflation, if nothing else, will boost it up in the future. But its price ascent will not approach that of gas or oil. And this economy is sure to win for coal an even larger share of the utility market than it enjoys today.

Southern Paper Gives Views on Phillips Election

From the Montgomery, Ala., Journal.

A young Negro alderman from Milwaukee, Mrs. Vel R. Phillips, has been elected national Democratic committeewoman from Wisconsin. She defeated Mrs. Marguerite Benson, also of Milwaukee, who has been a Democratic party worker for 28 years.

This is the first time in Democratic party history that a Negro has been elected to this office in any state, and it has split the party wide open in Wisconsin.

It may also have its influence on widening the divisions in the Democratic party nationally.

Certainly it is setting a precedent that will not be popular in this part of the country.

It shows Alabama's wisdom recently in purifying its state Democratic committee so that the state will not be compelled to declare

Lightning Hits Sawmill, Station

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of July 19, 1879.

The severe lightning of Tuesday morning struck the Kaukauna saw-mill of John Stovekin, destroying the saw and somewhat damaging the building.

It set fire to a pile of sawdust, which was easily extinguished.

The M. L. and W. station was struck also and burned to the ground. The night watchman of Reuter Brothers, hub and spoke manufacturers, was severely shocked by the same stroke of lightning.

Pilot Can Free Self From Gravity

Washington — When an airplane pilot flies a high-speed parabola, he can free himself of gravity's pull for about 30 seconds, the National Geographic magazine says. Centrifugal force hurls him up; gravity pulls him down. Briefly the two forces cancel each other, and the flyer floats in his safety harness. Loose objects, such as cigarettes, matches, and pencils, may swim lazily in the air.

Katydidids have a built-in direction finder. Their ears are located on their front legs and directed forward. On hearing the male's call, the female katydid orients herself in the direction of the invitation and, like an airplane flying on instruments, follows the beam.

State Sen. Jess Miller Seeking Sixth Term

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — In a broad western Wisconsin legislative district that requires three hours to traverse by automobile, one of the strongest and most useful men in state politics is starting what may be the most important fight of his political life.

Wyngaard

Sen. Jess Miller, of Richland Center, political father-confessor of generations of legislative youngsters, most persuasive of the majority party's legislative philosophers of modern times, is running for a sixth term in the upper house of the legislature where he has been a force since almost the first day he entered it long ago.

No man during this reporter's experience over two decades on the legislative sidelines has had quite the position that the even-tempered, slow talking Jess Miller has had.

No man during that time has had more personal power, when he wanted to use it. The fact that he has always used it sparingly is probably the explanation for his self-confident possession of it.

THE MAN

Sen. Miller has been a farmer, businessman, and auctioneer, and it is the auctioneer's stump style that comes through on his rare floor outbursts.

The deep voice starts slowly, softly, so that the chamber which is used to ordinary speeches must strain to hear. It gathers volume gradually, and rises to a crescendo as he makes his main point quickly, briefly and with conviction.

Sen. Miller is perhaps the only man now in the legislature who can actually influence a roll call through a speech. His colleagues know that Jess doesn't talk unless he means it, and that he in advance its loyalty to whatever the northern Democrats do or offer.

The new Wisconsin committeewoman was nominated in the state convention by a prominent leader of the CIO.

M. Dietrich, art instructor at Lawrence college, was among the 32 selected from about 200 paintings submitted by Wisconsin artists for the Gimbel Centennial art collection in Milwaukee. He received a cash award of $250.

Clarence Daclke was installed noble grand officer and Glenn Braun vice grand officer of Konomic lodge, No. 47, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Miss Mabel Ross was elected delegate to the national convention of the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary at a meeting of the Charles O. Baer auxiliary. Mrs. Lydia Bauer was elected alternate.

Charles Velte was elected president of the Neenah Board of Education during the Monday evening meeting of the new board. He succeeded Leo Schubart who did not seek reelection.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Postscript to the air force's mouse-laden Thor: as soon as the Defense Department is reorganized, they'll open a bureau of missing missile mice.

It's revealed many governors loved the vicuña cloth given them by Bernard Goldfine. These days almost everything a politician touches turns to Goldfine.

Abe Teitelbaum, former Al Capone attorney, invokes four amendments in not talking to senate probers. He took the 1st, 5th, 6th and 16th . . . and deeply regretted repeal of the 18th.

Lament of an out-of-work former government official: "I'm prudent. But who needs me?"

Ike and Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker create a joint defense committee. A joint committee is more conscientious than a regular one. It takes twice as long to pigeon-hole a problem.

The mystery of Mr. Goldfine's $775,000 in uncashed checks is solved. It's Goldfine's documentary proof that money isn't everything.

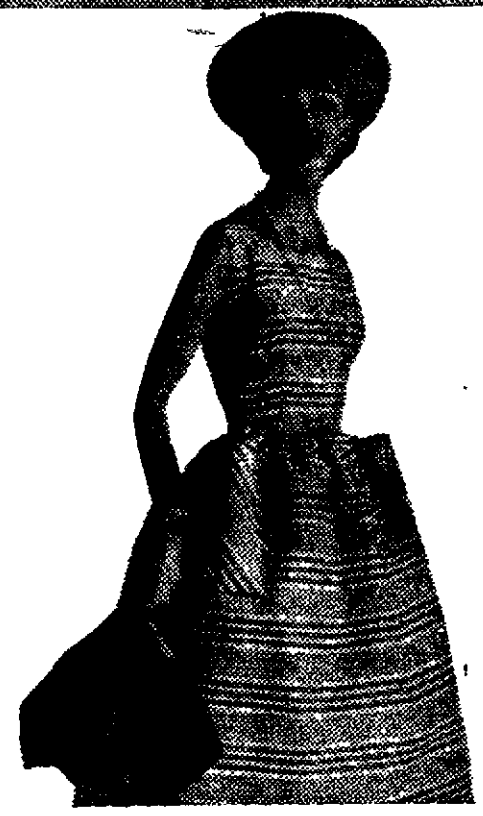

A loyal Republican is a man who has faith in America's long-range future . . . and confidently expects his party to recapture congress in 1960.

Marines in Lebanon To Guard Freedom

More leaves on the French Riviera and sailed. Other units had suddenly turned about from Greek naval base at Phaleron bay.

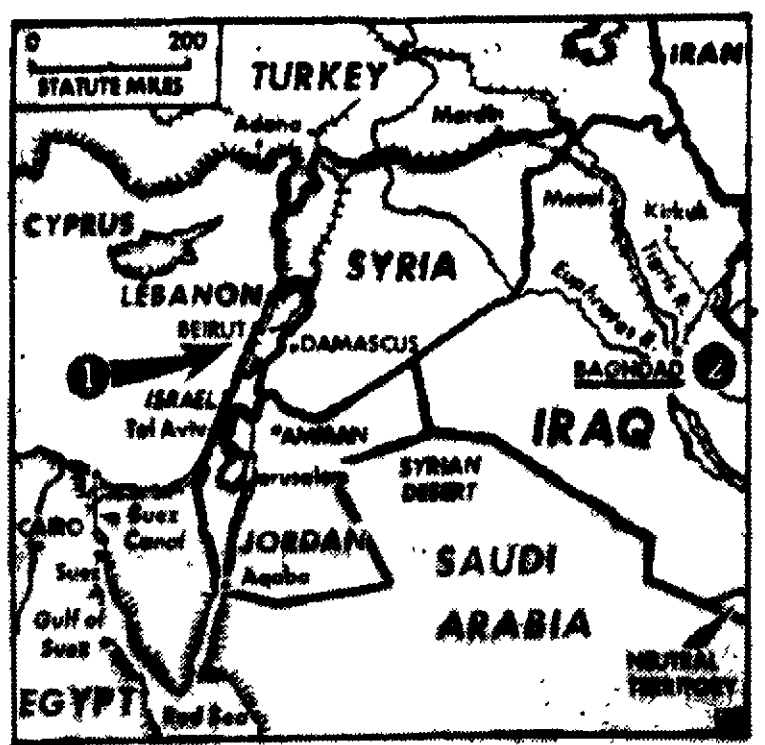

British Alerted

British naval units were off Cyprus in the eastern Mediterranean and others steamed out of Malta. These included the carrier Eagle.

Britain had alerted 6,000 troops at their bases in Britain for possible movement to the Middle East.

Big U.S. air transports were flown from the United States to a European base for possible ferry duty.

will recoil at these monstrosities."

Explaining the landing of U.S. forces in Lebanon, Lodge said: "Their presence is for the sole purpose of helping the government of Lebanon . . . to fight off threats from the outside until such time as the United Nations can take the steps necessary to protect the independence and integrity of Lebanon."

Blames Nasser

Lodge renewed U.S. charges that President Nasser's United Arab Republic has aided Lebanese rebels by infiltration of men and arms.

Then, without naming any specific country, he said: "There are powers in the Middle East seeking, in total disregard of national sovereignty and independence, to substitute force for law."

The challenge to the Iraqi delegate's right to sit was launched by Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev as the council opened its hurriedly-called session.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold acknowledged he had received a cable from the revolutionary government of Iraq naming a new delegate to replace Ambassador Abdul Majid Abbas. He said, however, that he did not consider the message as in order.

Sobolev assailed the overthrown Iraqi government as rotten and said the Soviet Union does not recognize that the Arab union gives Jordanian King Hussein authority to issue orders relating to Iraqi affairs.

No Official Word

Hammarskjold said he had received no information about the change of government in Iraq except what had been broadcast over Baghdad radio. He said he also was aware of King Hussein's claim to be head of the Arab union in the absence of Iraq's King Faisal.

In view of these facts, he said, he could not accept any communication from the new Baghdad government as official.

Abbas told newsmen before the meeting "I now take my instructions from Amman," the capital of Jordan.

British Delegate Sir Pierson Dixon backed up Hammarskjold's ruling. Ambassador Jorge E. Illueca, of Panama also argued that Abbas is the legitimate delegate of Iraq.

Sobolev retorted: "The Soviet delegate considers that the powers of the representative of Iraq sitting today at this table are no longer valid and Mr. Abbas has no right to represent Iraq on this council."

any action through the U.N. Security council impossible.

The new Iraqi education minister was quoted in Baghdad broadcasts as saying the next step would be for Iraq to "join the Arab union, side by side with the United Arab Republic" of President Nasser.

Nasser, who cut short a visit to Yugoslavia yesterday after the revolt and returned to Cairo, sent friendly greetings to the rebels. Cairo radio said the U.A.R. would recognize the new Iraqi republic.

One order from Baghdad instructed Iraqi troops to take "protective measures" at H3, a pumping station on the pipeline of the Iraq Petroleum company near the Syrian border.

As ships of the U.S. 6th fleet appeared on the horizon about 1:45 p.m. Lebanese began flocking to the beach by car and even on horseback from nearby villages to watch. People swam and sunbathed nearby while the landing took place.

The faces of the Lebanese showed their excitement, but on the whole they took the activity calmly. Some waved in greeting.

Thomson to Campaign On Legislative 'Firsts'

Bases Slogan on His Achievements
On Delinquency Study, Insurance Law

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Madison — Gov. Vernon W. Thomson is attempting to adapt the state's reputation for legislative pioneering to his second term election campaign.
Publicity materials prepared to accompany his official announcement of candidacy for reelection introduced the slogan "First With Thomson," which the governor evidently intends shall become the theme of his reelection drive.
"I will campaign," he said in the written statement, "on the fact that the accomplishments of my administration clearly demonstrate that Wisconsin will be 'First With Thomson.'"
The release then elaborated the achievements of his first term which he said justifies the claim of the slogan, including:

Juvenile Study
Enactment of the "nation's most comprehensive juvenile plot study program as a solution for juvenile delinquency, and the nation's most effective lobby-control law."
Enactment of the 1957 credit life insurance law, and legislation to protect the welfare funds of dues-paying union members, "the first of their kind to be passed by any state."

Appropriation "for the first time in the history of Wisconsin" of state funds for an advertising campaign to promote industrial development of our state.

Another major theme of the governor's reelection appeal will be the assertion that "the people of Wisconsin can depend upon Thomson's word," he said.

Kept Pledge
"During my first term as governor, I kept every personal pledge made to the voters of this state two years ago," he declared.

Evidently recognizing that the Democratic party has shown its intention to hit hard upon the higher tax and debt trends of Wisconsin local governments in the era of inflation, the governor will also boast about the increases in state treasury support to localities.

"I will campaign first on the record that under my administration, the state government met the greatly increased costs of state government and returned $80 million more than ever before in state aids, shared taxes and other benefits to local units of government, with no major increase in taxes, and with an estimated surplus of $14 million of uncommitted funds in the state treasury as of June 30, 1958," his announcement declared.

Financial Position
The governor has told reporters that he is having prepared a new estimate of the state's financial position for the current year, based upon late tallies of state tax collection experience.

It will show a more favorable position than the June 30 balance sheet, he predicted, and will be in clear contrast to the relatively pessimistic forecasts heard in legislative and political circles when the present budget of appropriations and tax revenues was fixed more than a year earlier.

APPLETON ONLY

Appleton Post-Crescent 11
Tuesday, July 15, 1958

Here Are Some glads that just wouldn't give up — they pushed their stems through a narrow crack between foundation and sidewalk at the Robert Lathrop home, 719 E. Goodall street. Mrs. Lathrop shows off the full blossoms. About three years ago her husband, a sergeant in the Appleton police bureau of identification, was trimming a few gladioli bulbs when some portions fell into the crack. They grew, finally making it to the blossom stage this year. (Post-Crescent Photo)

To Your Good Health

No Food Supplement Needed With Proper Diet, Says Doctor

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D. all your sister thinks it will. She, poor woman, your opinion of the statement, sounds like a food fanatic. They "You are what you eat?" My sister believes strongly in curing neurosis is symptoms by using (a food supplement), vitamins and religion. She believes these will cure everything from neurosis to cancer.—A. F.

Just so we start out on the right foot, I'll say that I approve of food supplements—if they are the ones you need, and I believe in vitamins, if you aren't getting enough; and I believe in religion—whether you need it or not!

The statement "you are what you eat" is correct, if you apply it properly. Big eaters are apt to be fat; poor eaters lean and perhaps weak, depending on how poor their eating is. Those who don't eat breakfast may suffer from fatigue and inefficiency. Those with diabetes who over indulge in the wrong foods will find many of their symptoms aggravated. Alcoholics add to their trouble by not eating. Oldsters become finicky in their eating, or get into narrow, fixed habits, and suffer from deficiency of protein or vitamins, or both.

As to the particular food supplement you mentioned in your letter, it is a high-priced mixture of vitamins and minerals, and of course it won't do Diet No Cure-All But eating a pill or swallowing a potion won't cure illnesses that are caused by some other factor. Diet won't cure or prevent smallpox or fractures, blindness or psoriasis or neurosis. Diet won't conquer germs. Nor will religion—and we must remember the counsel given by Him who said, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." My quotation may not be exact, but the principle is there: We must expect diet, and vitamins, to do the wonderful things they are able to do, but not the things that don't belong in their realm.

Most anybody who has followed this column regularly for a few months has a pretty good idea of what diet will and won't do. Periodically I remind everybody of the benefits of a balanced diet. Not a fussy, finicky, ounce-by-ounce diet, but just a normal diet that includes protein, milk, green vegetables, yellow vegetables, some cereals, a moderate bit of fat (or butter), and some fresh fruits. Eat such a diet habitually, and you won't run shy of vitamins or minerals, and you won't need "food supplements." Anybody who needs a food supplement doesn't eat properly.

WERB Orders Firm to Meet With Engineers

Landwehr, Hackl Refused to Bargain With Local, Ruling

Landwehr and Hackl, crushed stone firm, route 2, Appleton, has been found guilty of refusing to negotiate with Local 139 of the Operating Engineers union.

The Wisconsin Employment Relations board ordered the firm to bargain collectively with the local and to cease making changes in an agreement with the union. In addition, the firm must post notice of the board's decision at its office and notify the WERB of compliance.

The WERB found the firm and Local 139 had bargained collectively since September of 1953, and part of an agreement between the two was a 90-day notice period for any changes in the agreement.

Refused to Talk
Last Aug. 29, Alois C. Fischer, Local 139 business agent, presented a new agreement to the firm incorporating an 18-cent wage hike. Since that time, officials of the firm have refused to talk to Fischer, the board found. Last Dec. 27, the firm notified Fischer the agreement with Local 139 was terminated and in January granted a 10-cent wage hike, the board indicated.

These practices, the board noted, constituted a refusal to bargain with 139, recognized bargaining agent for machinery operators.

Judge Oscar J. Schmiede set the bond aside until Cumber is returned for trial Aug. 6. The couple was divorced early this month.

Bids Sought for Concrete Work on 2 Streets, Alley

The city will take bids Aug. 5 for concrete work on two short sections of street and an alley.

The streets are N. Oneida from Highway 41 south to the end of curb and gutter and N. Lave from E. Wisconsin avenue to E. Summer street.

The alley is south of W. College avenue and connects S. Superior street to S. Walnut street.

Date for the bid call was selected Monday by the street and sanitation committee.

The committee also ordered the street department to replace the stairs leading from the vocational school to E. Waterloo street.

Turn Back Trucks

It was recommended that the public safety committee take steps to keep trucks off N. Division street from W. Wisconsin avenue to W. Atlantic street.

Trucks which formerly used N. Richmond street are detouring to N. Division even though the state is keeping N. Richmond open during its reconstruction. N. Division is not a city truck route.

A special truck body was ordered from Pierce Auto Body Works for $986. It will be used on the sewer maintenance crew's truck.

Where's Center Of U.S. With Its New State?

Alaska Disturbs
Historic Point
At Lebanon, Kan.

BY FRANK CAREY

Washington—(AP)—If Alaska comes in as the 49th state the geographic heart of the United States may no longer be in the United States at all.

It may be in southwestern Canada—or even in the Pacific ocean, somewhere off the coast of Washington state.

These were preliminary guesses today of officials of the U. S. geological survey and the U. S. coast and geodetic survey.

One thing is certain: The geographic center would shift from its present position somewhere near Lebanon, Kan.

The geographic center is defined as "the point at which the United States would balance if it were all the same thickness and were suspended on a pinpoint."

One Way

One way of figuring it is simply to take a map of the United States, paste it on a cardboard and then find the center of gravity by placing your map on a pinpoint.

Sounds easy, but Alaska presents complications for such a stunt, because there is no continuous land connection between Alaska and the rest of the United States. A portion of Canada pops up in between.

A government expert told a reporter one conceivable way of finding the geographic center of a United States with Alaska would be to attach the Alaskan area to your U. S. map by means of a light, aluminum wire and then do your balancing.

"You could also figure it out mathematically," he said, "by taking what we call coordinates of points all along various coastlines. But that would take a long time by ordinary mathematical methods, and might even take days and cost thousands of dollars even with modern high-speed computing machines."

Some observers said that perhaps the easiest thing to do would be to settle for the present geographic center of the entire North American continent. This lies in Pierce county, North Dakota, a few miles west of Devil's lake.

Geographic Center
Geographers stress that the geographic center either of the United States as a whole or of separate states is not an exact point, just an approximation.

And what would be the situation if Hawaii is ultimately admitted to the union?
Government experts indicate that there wouldn't be much additional change if the center already had been relocated by Alaska's admission.

Admission of Alaska would also cause a switch in the present population center of the United States. This center is calculated after the general census is made each 10 years.

As of 1950, the census bureau located it at approximately eight miles north-northwest of Olney in Richland county, Illinois.

Veteran Actor Neely Edwards, 74, gives actress Mel Grantham an assist before curtain time of the play, "The Wayward Way," in Hollywood. The play was known as "The Drunkard" when it opened way back in 1933 and Neely, the only member of the original cast, has missed but 50 performances in its 25-year run. (AP Wirephoto)

25-Year Melodrama

'Drunkard' Still Going Strong, Now a Musical

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

Hollywood—(AP)—This is a report on that Methuselah among melodramas, "The Drunkard," by one of its oldest living patrons.

How well I remember—thanks to some clippings—July 9, 1933.

"The Drunkard" was then three nights old. Last week I saw performance No. 9,225—the silver anniversary show, plus three.

In Hollywood in July, 1933, Neely Edwards donned a new silk top. He was worn one nearly every night since. Neely is the only member of the original cast still in "The Drunkard." I saw Neely again last night, for perhaps the thirtieth time. He was as spry as ever, although he's 74. He was a mere 49 when he first became the father of the girl who is tearfully wronged.

In 25 years, Neely Edwards has missed only about 50 performances.

"The Drunkard" became a musical five years ago and now is called "The Wayward Way." It is pretty corny stuff, but it was taken seriously as a dramatized temperance lecture when P. T. Barnum produced it in the nineties. The current cast plays it very broadly, indeed. The audience sits at tables and drinks free beer and eats free pretzels and hisses the villain. Very freely. They cheer and applaud, always a little more loudly by about the fifth act, when the heroine escapes from the clutches of the leering you-know-who.

Neither the drama nor the moral explains the success of "The Drunkard." It's the sociability, the fun, the taking part in the performance that have attracted two and a half million. July 6 was the actual anniversary, but that date fell on Sunday, when there never is a performance.

Popeye to Make Personal Appearance at Seymour Fair

"I yam what I yam because that's what I yam," has become as second nature to Harry Foster Welch as to the banty-legged, pipe-chewing cartoon sailor who's capturing new followers with his every appearance on television, the cinema and the newspaper columns.

Welch is the only authorized impersonator of Popeye and he will have a place of honor in the hearts of young fair-goers at the Seymour, Thursday and Friday.

This frog-voiced comic will be a roaming clown during the opening days of the fair. He will assist in the afternoon pet and pony shows, Thursday, and appear in the grandstand show Thursday and Friday evenings.

Although Popeye is the character with whom Welch is most readily identified, his versatility has gained him the title of the "man with a thousand voices." He has appeared on radio, television and the films as well as fairs and theaters.

Greyhound Wants to Reduce Schedule By 20 Per Cent Effective Sept. 29

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission has scheduled three hearings on a Greyhound Bus Line petition to reduce service on Wisconsin routes. About 20 per cent, effective Sept. 29.

Three buses would leave for Milwaukee and Chicago daily instead of the present seven. Morning buses would leave at 3:55 and 9:40 daily and 7 o'clock on Monday and Saturday. A daily evening bus would leave at 6:05.

"Where's the old confidence, Harry? You'll manage to pay for it some way!"

Lesson in English

By W. L. Gordon

Words often misused: Do not use "ways" for "way," as in the expression, "A little ways up the hill." Say, "A little WAY up the hill."

Often mispronounced: Protocol. Pronounce proh-toh-kahl, accent on first syllable.

Often misspelled: Muscle

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: gormandize; to eat voraciously. "The ancient Romans used to gormandize."

See how quickly your pencil can unravel this little problem. A 55-foot pole stands vertically in one corner of a lot, which is in the form of an equilateral triangle. If a 73-foot wire, extending from the top of the pole, exactly reaches either of the other two corners of the lot, what is the area of the lot?

Answer

997.66 square feet. By subtracting the square of 55 from that of 72 and extracting square root of result, you have length of each side of lot. To get area, subtract each side separately from half the sum of the three sides; multiplying the half-sum and three remainders, and extract square root of result.

Sokolsky Says Tax Haven Problem A Source of U. S.-Canada Trouble

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

That small arguments cannot dispute facts established by geography, history and economics ought to be as evident to the Canadians as to Americans. But it is also true that great wars have started over silly things and that statesmen have not always been smarter than small boys when it came to an inch of boundary or a cent of trade. Statesmen are usually politicians, which means that they are protective of their own hides.

Thus, the Canadian situation is important because there is a situation. Actually, all American-Canadian problems ought to be settled without propaganda, quarrels, threats and silly speeches by politicians in Canada who may gain office by threatening the United States. The fact is that the United States does not quarrel with Canada, since most Americans don't give thought to Canada's distinct existence. It is better that way.

American corporations have invested nearly $8,000,000,000 in Canadian industry and American private investors have an estimated $5,317,000,000 in Canadian securities. This makes a total American non-governmental investment in Canada of approximately $13,000,000,000, an enormous part of the Canadian economy. While some represents a flight of American capital to a tax haven, few Americans benefit from it. The exact figures for Canadian investments in the United States are not available because many Canadian-owned companies operating in the United States are registered in Bermuda, Nassau, Panama or Venezuela. If all these facts could be brought together, it would be found that Canadian investment in the United States is very large. For instance, 90 per cent of the Canadian-owned whiskey business is done in the United States and the Canadian newspaper business is an important factor in the American economy.

The two countries are so closely related economically that the line between them is not even imaginary. For instance, Cyrus Eaton's company and George Humphrey's company are operating in Canada in the new iron ore fields, and is Veintures, Ltd., really Canadian or American?

If the subject of Canadian-American relations is treated from an economic standpoint, there is no border between the two countries. There is a variety of laws, of tariff benefits, of tax benefits which make for trouble rather than for friendly relations between the two countries, but these affect private individuals and not the countries per se. Some men make money out of all kinds of situations, even some which lead to war and the death of their own sons. It is a human aberration. We need not have trouble with Canada over that.

Tax Haven Problem
The realistic Canadian-American problem is the abolishment of all conditions in Canada which make that country a tax haven or give a Canadian company or an American-owned

Canadian company operating in the United States an advantage over a competing American company. It is this advantage which is a cause for quarrel between the two countries, particularly as an increasing amount of American-formed capital goes into Canada to return to the United States laden with discrimination against its American competitors.

While this is of some benefit to those companies and the individuals who own them, it is of no advantage to Canada or to the United States. In the end it probably deprives both countries of the taxes due them. Once this cause of trouble is cleared away, other issues, such as surplus wheat in both countries, or the manipulation of currencies, or the dumping of goods in foreign markets, or even the sale of contraband by Canadian subsidiaries of American companies, could be adjusted without politics. It is interesting to note that next to the Norman case, in which Canada was 100 per cent wrong, the biggest issue was the taxing of Cyrus Eaton's iron ore company. In that case Canada was probably correct under the law. Yet from an American standpoint the use of Canada or any other country by Americans as a tax haven is harmful to basic American interests. It is the tax haven problem that raises moral indignation and makes for real trouble. Americans who pay taxes regard those who use tax havens as thieves who are not carrying their share of the load. It could be said that they are smart to be in that position, but so were Al Capone and Lucky Luciano. Moral criteria have nothing to do with that kind of cleverness. (Copyright, 1958)

Mississippi Gives State 3rd Coast Line

Transport System Accounts for Much Commercial Shipping

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The Mississippi river has provided Wisconsin with a "third coast-line," according to the state division of industrial development. The division noted that the Mississippi transport system accounted for almost 700,000 tons of commercial shipping into Wisconsin last year. Principally coal and petroleum products, the barge shipments were delivered to large terminals in LaCrosse and to power plants and commercial facilities at Alma, Cassville, Genoa and Prairie du Chien. Promotions in Country

The division bulletin also comments on industrial development promotions in other parts of the country, including what it called a trend for governmental subsidies for industrial establishments. Southern states have long since provided public money to lure industry with subsidies, but the idea is now spreading to others, the state agency noted. Pennsylvania, as an example, has begun making mortgage money available to industry, in collaboration with local development corporations. The division also noted that there is talk of federal government assistance and that Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin has offered a bill in the Congress to that end.

Elected to the Winneconne Community school district board at the annual meeting Monday night were, left to right, Floyd David, town of Poygan; Mrs. Margaret Helm, town of Winneconne, reelected, and Herman Kiesow, town of Wolf River. The more than 350 district residents at the meeting voted to increase the board from five to seven members. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Winneconne School District Adds Two Members to Board

Herman Kiesow, Floyd David Fill New Posts; Mrs. Margaret Helm Reelected

Winneconne — Expansion of the board from five to seven members and adoption of a $526,447 budget featured the annual meeting Monday night of the Winneconne Community school district. More than 350 persons attended the meeting, one of the largest crowds in many years.

Elected to the school board were Mrs. Margaret Helm, who had just completed her first term, Herman Kiesow and Floyd Davis, the latter two being the new members.

Mrs. Helm, a town of Winneconne resident, will serve a 3-year term, Kiesow, a town of Wolf River farmer, will serve a 3-year term also and Davis, who was director of the Hill district of the town of Poygan for six years, will serve for one year. The Hill district was added to the Winneconne Community district this year.

Defeated for election to the school board were George Klotz of Butte des Morts and Mrs. Clyde Boismenu of the village of Winneconne. Balloting was on all five candidates at one time with the top three being elected.

Expansion Vote

Vernice Anderson was named chairman of the meeting over E. W. Schueler by a 187 to 127 vote. The board expansion resolution passed by a 284 to 69 vote. It was the result of a petition containing 332 signatures presented to the board in May. Chairman Joseph H. Anderson reported some appliances have not arrived for the kitchen at the new Winchester school. The land also has to be graded and leveled at that school.

$13.47 Tax Rate

The budget adopted calls for a tax rate of $12.30 per each $1,000 of equalized valuation for the operating budget, down 50 cents from that set last July, and $1.17 for the bond retirement, a drop of 76 cents. The rates are based on a total equalized valuation of $21,867,100 and will raise $268,965 for the operating costs and $25,584 for the bond retirement costs.

In outlining the budget provisions, it was pointed out that the faculty is being increased by two teachers, one for high school English and the other for the fifth grade at the Central school. It also is planned to install ceilings in several more rooms of the Central school.

George Tipler, district clerk, in reviewing the financial statement for the last school year, pointed out the bond issue secured for the new school projects was $325,000, of which $15,000 was retired in May. There is a balance of $9,947 remaining in the bond account to take care of some of the work that has not been completed.

$14 Rate Set for Gillingham School

Neenah — A tax rate of $14 per $1,000 of valuation was set by the Gillingham school district residents at the annual meeting Monday night at the school. Eighteen voters attended the meeting.

Milton Holz was reelected director for another 3-year term, and it was decided to keep the same salaries for the board members. John Schaefer was reelected to the auditing committee for three years.

The voters approved an operating budget of $17,450 and decided to continue the Type "A" hot lunch program. The same of Oshkosh with 11, Earl Hughes of Neenah with nine, and the state reformatory farm at Green Bay with eight.

Tullar Votes Request Kindergarten Class

District Adds $6,000 to Budget For Program; Hirschy, Winkler Reelected

Neenah — After amending the proposed budget of $57,593 to include a $6,000 appropriation for kindergarten education members of the Tullar school district authorized the school board to establish a kindergarten program for the fall of 1958, at the annual meeting Monday evening.

In favor of the kindergarten proposal were 27 of the 45 electors present. The board now can decide to send children of kindergarten age to either Lakeview or Spring Road school, if those schools have room for them, or provide a room, equipment and teacher necessary for the program in Tullar school.

Approximate cost of sending pupils to another kindergarten is $4 a week per child for 36 weeks plus the cost of transportation. A board member, John Arnold, pointed out that in approximately three years a four or five room addition would have to be built to accommodate increased enrollment and that kindergarten space probably would be included in that plan.

Reelected to board themselves on the board were Harlan Hirschy and Dale Winkler. Other members are Mrs. Ruth Patton, Howard Evans and John Arnold.

Henry Malchow and Elmer Sievert were elected to three and two year terms respectively to the auditing committee.

Residents voted funds to meet the decision of the circuit court on the condemnation proceedings begun by the school district to obtain three acres of land owned by Earl Hughes. They also voted to investigate the possibility of adding another two acres to the three acres under dispute, which would bring the total school land to seven acres, including the two acres the school occupies.

Future Building Needs A committee will be appointed to investigate future building needs. The electors also voted to pay Wisconsin Inter-scholastic Athletic association insurance premiums out of district funds. The insurance covers children injured in school activities.

Electors voted a sustaining resolution. Monday about four million gallons were pumped through the water plant, Westfahl said. He indicated that while recent rains have reduced lawn sprinkling, a large amount of water is being used for other purposes during the hot weather.

The addition of new filters and settling basins in the next two years will increase the available water to about seven million gallons per day, Westfahl said. Initial steps have already been taken to provide for water plant expansion.

Appleton Man Fined For Piping Pistol Into Tavern Floor

Oshkosh — Gerald R. Batzler, 23, 1409 W. Commercial street, Appleton, Monday was fined $25 and costs on each of two counts after he fired a shot into the floor of a Larsen tavern early Saturday morning. The fines were imposed by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchinsger.

He pleaded guilty of going armed with a concealed and dangerous weapon and of pointing a gun at another person. He pleaded innocent at first but later changed the pleas.

Sheriff's police said he pulled a .22 caliber pistol out when the tavern proprietor, Marvin Zimmerman, told him and other patrons it was time to leave. They said he pointed the gun briefly at Zimmerman and then fired a shot into the floor.

Removal of Undesirable Fish Favored

Neenah — Three-fourths of the people present at this morning's Wisconsin Conservation commission public hearing on the proposed removal of bullheads, carp and suckers from Little Lake Butte des Morts favored the idea.

Of the four interested fishermen present, Pete Schultz, route 2, Neenah; Tom Farley, 205 Spruce street, and John Diermeier, route 2, Neenah, favored the removal while Paul Mason, 33 Fox street, Menasha voted against it.

Mason pointed out he was mainly in favor of cleaning up the water and lake bed instead of removing a lot of fish. "Clean up the water and you'll have a fine crop of fish and won't have to worry about the bullheads!" he stated.

Richard Harris of the conservation department's fish management division, said the bullheads wouldn't be cleaned out entirely. "We hope to remove enough so the rest will be able to grow bigger and there will still be enough for good hook and line fishing," he explained.

Harris said the Wisconsin Conservation commission will probably review the proposed removal of fish from the little lake at its August meeting and the program could be authorized in time for fall fishing.

Compact, Yet Comfortable, Is the school bus transformed into a second home for the Kenneth Maynard family, route 2, Neenah. They recently returned from a 5,693-mile trip through western states. Shown in the bus are Mrs. Maynard, holding the couple's youngest child, Kevin, 2 months old, two other sons, Kenneth, 13, and Roy, 7½, Mr. Maynard and the couple's daughter, Alanna, 9½. Son David, 11½, was absent. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Neenah Family Converts School Bus Into 'Home' for Vacation Trip

Neenah — "Are you a bus driver, Mister?" "Where do all of you sleep?" "Say, isn't this a nice layout?" The questions were only a few of the many asked by children and adults alike throughout western states as their curiosity was aroused by the yellow and black school bus converted into a "home on wheels" for a vacationing Neenah family.

Exactly 5,693 miles from their route 2, Neenah home through the desert beauty of the southwest, up the coast of California, through the mountains and across prairie states were covered by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Maynard and their five children during a five week trip in their "school bus home."

Cast aside as useless by others, the furnishings for the bus were made entirely by Mr. Maynard. An old beer tap now serves as a water faucet, discarded bed springs, cut down and tightened, serve as the six bunk beds, and part of a refrigerator converted into an icebox are among the examples of his ingenuity.

By fastening the upper bunks with chains to hooks, bench space was created with the lower beds. A collapsible table, tucked behind the bunks when not needed, folds out for a dining area between the two lower bunks, as another evidence of the work of the skilled father. Another bench seat, behind the driver's seat, provided a good viewing section of passing scenery for the older children, who were making their second trip to the west coast.

Curtains, Pullman style, which could be drawn to separate the sleeping area from the remainder of the vehicle are still another result of the Neenah man's handiwork. He installed an extra battery, permitting a radio and side lights in the bus to be used without running down the regular battery when the motor was off.

Storage Space

Ample storage space for clothes and household articles was built in drawer-fashion under the bunks. A screened door at the rear exit and several screened windows, provided some ventilation relief, although Mrs. Maynard reported the family traveled for the most part through 100 degree heat.

"When you are packing for seven people, you have to use a scientific method," said the attractive red-haired mother, explaining she made lists well in advance, packing as many drip-dry articles as possible. "We still had some clothes that could have been left behind," she laughed confessing to the habitual fault of travelers.

Laundrying the garments caused some difficulties since roadside stops other than evenings were fairly brief. Visits at the homes of friends and relatives in Oklahoma and California gave Mrs. Maynard an opportunity for laundry, otherwise she used the speedy laundrette facilities in passing towns.

Paper plates and cups and disposable diapers for Kevin, who was only two months old when the trip began May 31, lightened housekeeping tasks. Since the kitchen area is small

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Scranny, or wrinkled, or flabby elbows cause many damsels to feel self-conscious about their arms in short sleeves and evening dresses. Or so they write me.

Happily, all these faults can be overcome and by the same method. The first step is corrective exercise — routines that plump the muscles and firm the flesh. For quick results, put your effort into this one:

Stand with arms outstretched to sides at shoulder level, palms up. Roll arms forward, until backs of hands face floor; hold for three counts and then return to starting position. Working slowly and with tension, repeat 20 times. Should you feel strain, rest before continuing.

To speed the outcome, massage your elbows with hand lotion both night and morning. Also monitor the carriage of your arms. Never hold them stiffly at your sides, always relax the elbow joints. This "unwrinkles" elbows and gives the arms more grace, too.

Of course, you would never be caught leaning on your elbows — not unless you wished to add rough, discolored patches to the present woes!

Use Imagination in Flower Arrangements Says Agent

Oshkosh — With a little imagination indoor flower arrangements can be attractive and cleverly enhanced by their containers, advises Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent. Bowls and shallow kitchen dishes are often striking and heavy stone crocks blend well with big, bulky flowers.

Serving dishes, pitchers, baking dishes and salad bowls are all suitable if they are used with the right flowers. Soft, neutral colors emphasize the natural beauty of garden blooms and the container should not detract from the arrangement or the flowers.

To secure flowers in the bowl round, oval or rectangular necked holders can be used. They should be heavy enough to hold the stems and clay can sometimes be used to anchor the holders in place. Long flowers, to be used in deep vases, can be fastened by placing chicken wire in the vase.

If two varieties of garden flowers are combined in an arrangement, one should dominate the bouquet. Flowers of the same color are easier to assemble, but mixed colors often make a striking and refreshing bouquet.

Small flowers lend themselves to informal homes and long-stemmed blooms are more suitable to large, formal homes. A combination of half-opened buds and full blooms looks well in a bouquet and a variety of stem-lengths gives the mixture a natural, balanced look.

Lay Group Asks New Junior High For 750 Pupils

which would conserve money at the present time would be a costly and unwise solution over the long run.

Even if the rest of the present Kimberly block were purchased for school expansion (for an estimated $100,000), there would be only 2.4 acres and no possible room for expansion once the 750-pupil limit had been reached, the committee report noted.

Kimberly Undesirable
The professional architects cited the Kimberly school's lack of flexibility, fire safety and plumbing facilities, as well as its location, as factors preventing it from being a desirable school site for future decades.

It has been suggested on numerous occasions that the old school be converted into a city hall, police station, University of Wisconsin extension center or other civic building.

The citizens committee also recommended that the city council and school board together reappraise the city's building needs and work out a building plan that can be financed without undue hardship on the taxpayers.

The committee further focused attention on the future need for land for the city's second junior high school and senior high school, which will be needed within 20 years.

File 59-Page Report
The committee filed its 25-page report, along with the 34-page report of Fred Kramer of Perkins and Will, with school and city officials. The next step is up to the board of education, which must study the report and seek money from the city council for new school facilities.

In making its report the committee selected the new 750-pupil building proposal over four other proposals also given serious consideration. The committee had been studying the problem since mid-November. Members of the committee were Arthur Hedlund, chairman, James P. Buchanan, Paul N. Dawson, Mrs. Jerry Johnson, Ralph Larson, Theodore Perry, Richard B. Sawtell, Stanley Severson, Mrs. Harold C. Sperka, George E. Verhage, Paul E. Weigt and Harold W. Young.

Serving as ex-officio members were Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes and Harvey R. Leaman, principal of the Kimberly Junior High school.

Spring Road District Sets $11 Tax Rate

Building Program Factor in $36,000 Increase in Budget

Menasha — A budget of $107,573 for 1958-59 was approved by members of the Spring road school district at the annual meeting Monday evening. A total of $91,000 is to be raised by taxation with a tax rate of approximately $11 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

This year's budget shows a marked increase in comparison with the $71,000 set aside for expenditures last year. The larger figure is explained by an increase in teachers' salaries and the addition of three new teachers to the staff, making a total of nine. The amount paid in salaries for teachers last year was $24,747 while this year's estimated expenditure will be $41,500.

Interest on the $310,000 bond issue to finance the addition to the school is also a factor. The school's expansion is expected to be completed in December. Ground was broken on May 1. Howard Burr, director, and Elmer Brockman, member, were renamed by the 23 district members present. New members of the board of auditors are Kenneth Bunn, who will serve for three years and Robert Van Oudenhoven, who was named for a one year term.

Carl De Lapp, chairman, announced the kindergarten and special education programs will not begin in September because of inadequate space, although three rooms of the 10-room addition should be ready for use then.

Robert Fowler will come to Spring Road in the fall as teacher of one of the higher grades and school principal. Mrs. Hester Brien will teach fifth grade and Mrs. Dorothy Kain will be first grade instructor.

It was decided that the present garage and storage area located adjacent to the school will be razed.

Chavez Ravine Fight Goes to Appeals Court

O'Malley Announces He'll Fight Ruling Of Superior Judge

Los Angeles — The California District Court of Appeal looks like the setting for the next chapter in the bewildering, bitter-sweet adventures of Walter O'Malley and his storied athletic troupe.

A Superior court judge pointed O'Malley in that direction Monday by ruling that his contract for a stadium site in Chavez ravine is as illegal as a spitball.

O'Malley immediately announced he will appeal, first to the District court and then, if necessary, to the State Supreme court. The suits challenging the contracts were brought by taxpayers.

The voided contract would have given the Dodgers a stadium site on land now partly owned by the city in Chavez Ravine — a mile from the civic center — in return for Dodger-owned Wrigley field and other considerations.

The deal was approved by the city council last fall and by the voters in the June municipal election.

kee's second baseman, left the game in the fourth inning with a crushed finger. He was hit on the hand while trying to bunt. He will be lost to the Braves for about 10 days.

Right-hander Lew Burdette escaped injury when he was hit by a pitched ball in the seventh inning and went on to take his eighth victory against seven losses.

Burdette gave up two singles, two doubles and a homer by rookie Leon Wagner.

Wagner scored in the second inning on Bob Schmidt's single. Willie Mays doubled in a run in the sixth, and Wagner homered in the seventh.

A walk to Schoendienst and singles by Johnny Logan and Covington produced two runs in the first inning.

Covington made it 3-1 in the third with his drive over the 380-foot sign in right field.

Worthington Deparis

Two fielding errors contributed to the departure of San Francisco starter Al Worthington in the fifth inning.

An error put Henry Aaron on first base. After Covington walked, Aaron stole third and continued home as catcher Schmidt's third caromed off the runner and into the Braves' dugout. Covington scored on Joe Adcock's single.

Worthington, taking his fifth loss against eight victories, was replaced by Ray Crone, who yielded two singles. But Adcock was thrown out at the plate as the side was retired.

Roach at Second

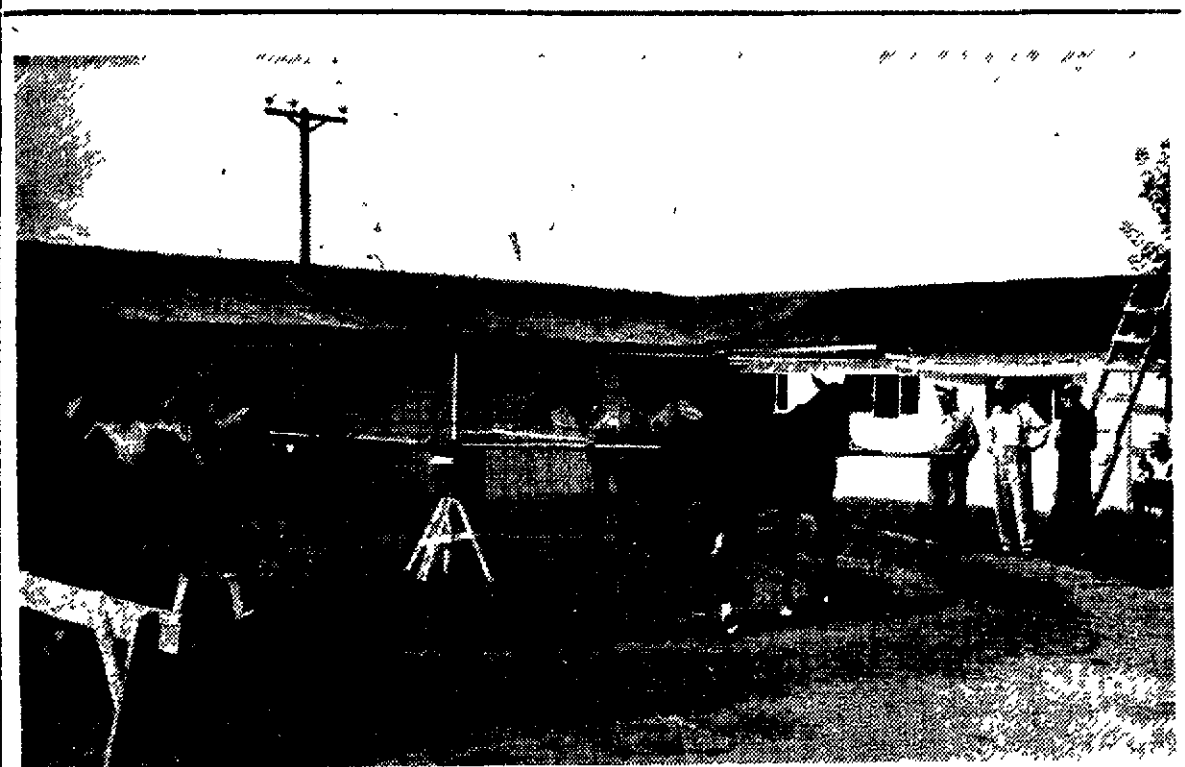

Crone gave up two runs in the sixth inning on Mel Roach's double and Logan's homer. Roach had replaced Schoendienst at second base.

The Braves added three runs in the seventh on two hits and the wild pitching of rookie Joe Shipley. Del Crandall walked, Burdette was hit by a pitch and Roach beat out a bunt. Crandall scored on a wild pitch. Burdette came home on Logan's single and Roach scored on Eddie Mathews out.

In the eighth, Shipley hit Billy

Dav-Sox Continue To Have Trouble, Fall to Winona

By The Associated Press

Cedar Rapids and Green Bay used lots of hits in scoring easy victories Monday night and continue their 2-team battle for the second half title in the Three I league.

The front-running Raiders, owning a 2-game lead over Green Bay, collected 16 hits to wallop Fox Cities, 15-6.

Green Bay rapped a dozen hits and beat Burlington, 8-2. Terry Robertson doubled for two runs in a 3-run first inning, and the Bluejays added two more in the second and then finished up with three in the eighth.

Davenport's first half champions continued to have trouble in the second half race, dropping an 8-7 decision to Winona. A 4-run Dav-Sox rally fell short in the eighth. Davenport's Dick Lombardi had two hits, running his streak to 11 games.

Davenport and Burlington remained in a third-place tie, 4½ games off the pace.

Pascual Will Bat Fifth for All-Stars

Hamilton or Goerger Expected To Start on Mound Wednesday

By The Associated Press

Carlos Pascual, Fox Cities third baseman, will bat fifth in the Three-I league all-star batting order announced today by Burlington's Walt Dixon.

Davenport, first - half champion, will face the all-stars from the other five clubs Wednesday night in Davenport.

Dixon, all-star pilot, revealed that either Cedar Rapids' Bill Hamilton or Burlington's Ron Goerger will be the starting pitcher. Both are southpaws.

Burl Storie, Winona manager, will replace Green Bay's Pete Reiser as an all-star coach, League President Hal Totten announces. Reiser, who was originally named a coach along with Fox Cities' Pete Suder, was struck in the groin by a line drive while pitching batting practice Sunday and will be unable to participate in the all-star game.

The all-star batting order: Gene Wallace, Green Bay, shortstop; Bill Moss, Cedar Rapids, 1B; Sheldon Brodsky, Green Bay, 1B; Frank Howard, Green Bay, 1B; Pascual, Fox Cities, 3B; Rick Rogers, Winona, c; Dennis Loudonback, Burlington, 2B; Larry Cline, Cedar Rapids, cf; and Hamilton, Cedar Rapids, or Goerger, Burlington, p.

Clubs Rap 30 Hits in Menasha

BY MIKE DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Menasha — Three-I league hitters were Menasha maulers again here Monday night.

Thirty hits, including five home runs, were swatted in the hitters' haven Menasha park as Cedar Rapids defeated the Fox Cities Foxes, 15-6.

3 Fox Cities Homers

The Raiders, champing at the bit in their only crack at this Little league-dimensioned orchard, detonated only two homers among their 16 hits. Three of the Foxes' 14 hits plopped over the cozy fences.

Monday's output brings the total number of home runs whacked by Three-I batters here in three games to 22, with 54 runs scored.

The finale of the 4-game Cedar Rapids series will be played at Goodland field tonight, concluding the Foxes' current home stand. It is Stockholders' Appreciation night. All stockholders have received a free pass, good for two persons, for the game.

Though "only" five round-trippers were pounded here Monday night it is certain that the nearness of the fences again served to unnerv pitchers who were unfortunate enough to be called into action. A measurement by a Menasha Recreation department official Monday morning revealed the actual distances to the outfield fences to be: 267 feet in right field, 345 in center and 310 in left.

(The posted distances—signs on the fence—are 270, 392 and 322 respectively.)

Terrain Is Hard

Further contributing to the woes of the four pitchers who worked here Monday was hard-as-concrete terrain. The solidly dry field should have been moistened before the game. Balls that were hit on the ground often either scotted through for hits or were bobbled by handcufted infielders. There were six errors in the infield.

Despite these handicaps, Cedar Rapids rightlander Bob

Bruins Nudge Phils, 11-10, Gain 3rd Place

Defeat Semproch;
Dodgers Hammer
Cincinnati, 8-5

By The Associated Press
You couldn't hear the snickers for the laughs when Manager Bob Scheffing allowed as how his Chicago Cubs could be national league pennant.

Moryn

But who was it who chilled the Philadelphia Phillies? The Cubs, and who's that sitting in third place, just 2 1/2 games shy of first? The Cubs.

The Cubs have moved up from fifth with a sweep of the last three in a 4-game set with the Phils, who had won 11 of their previous 14.

Brave 5 Win
Monday, they scored an 11-10 decision over the Phils in 11 innings. That pushed Chicago free of a third-place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals while Milwaukee was regaining first place from San Francisco by drubbing the Giants, 12-3.

Last-place Los Angeles hammered Cincinnati, 8-5. The Cubs beat the Phils the hard way — hammering relief ace Dick Farrell in a 4-run ninth that tied 9-9, and then beating Ray Semproch (11-6), the winning pitcher in the league.

In the eleventh, the Cubs made three errors which led to another Philadelphia lead but they came back to win the game on singles by Ernie Banks and Sam Taylor and Walt Moryn's 2-run double.

Moryn, Lee Walls and Johnny Goryl all contributed homers while Walls knocked in four runs and Moryn sent three across.

Hobbie Wins
Glenn Hobbie, Chicago's sixth pitcher, collected the victory, his seventh against six losses. Oddly enough, it was the Cubs' first extra inning victory against five defeats.

The Dodgers counted all their runs on homers—and, in fact, have homered for their last 16 runs, all in the 4-game sweep of the Reds. Don Zimmer, out a week with injuries, hit a pair, good for four runs; Charlie Neal counted three runs with his seventeenth third of the series; and stout Steve Bilko belted his seventh. Southpaw Johnny Podres (9-8) won it with relief, while 10-game winner Bob Purkey lost his sixth.

Dodgers Will Shorten Remote Right Field Fence Next Season

Los Angeles — To the delight of every left-handed swinger in the National League (pitchers excluded), the remote right field fence in the coliseum will be shortened next season.

President Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers made the announcement at a news conference.

The fence joins the stands beyond the right field foul pole, which is 301 feet from home plate. But the barrier falls back swiftly to a distance of 380 feet and in 430 feet from home at one point in right center.

Even Los Angeles Talks About Finishing 1st in Wild NL Race

BY JACK HAND

Even the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers still talk about winning the National League pennant in the wild race that had only a 64-game span from top to bottom today.

Nobody will admit he can't win it. Optimism bubbles from the mouth of every manager in the league. It seems all eight expect the second half of the season to be better than the first. A Cincinnati spy insists Warren Giles, the league president, is drawing up plans for an 8-team play-off.

Calls in Bavari
Perhaps Danny Murtaugh of Pittsburgh said it best: "There isn't a hat pin long enough for me to risk picking a winner."

Walter Alston, Los Angeles manager, called in General Manager E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi to issue a joint statement when The Associated Press asked for the Dodger views.

"In a race as close as this," they said, "this is no time for panic even when you are in eighth place. We have had more than our usual share of injuries... We also have had several men in unusual slumps. We have every reason to believe we will have a brighter second half of the season and we have confidence we can still finish on top."

Other comments:
Bill Rigney of second-place San Francisco: "We have Willie Mays and our rookies have been doing a great job. If they continue to carry the load, we could go all the way."

Fred Haney of the front-running Milwaukee Braves: "Sure I think we'll win. Whoever wins it has to beat us and I don't think there's another club that can do that."

General Manager "Bing" Devine of St. Louis: "Every club has a chance and we're certainly in it."

General Manager Roy Hamer of the Phillies: "We will go as far as our pitching will take us. We certainly can win it all."

Birdie Tebbets of Cincinnati: "I think the pitching staff is good enough to get us to 500. Whatever we get over 500 will be contributed by the hitters."

Bob Scheffing of the surprising Chicago Cubs: "We'll do better the second half."

Tale of Wooden Indian

San Francisco Process Server Fails To Get to First Base With Burdette

San Francisco — (A) — Lew Burdette is not taking any wooden Indians. Nor is he giving away any baseball uniforms, no matter how many process servers Sam Cohen sends around.

Burdette pitches for the Milwaukee Braves, a tribe of non-wooden Indians in the National League. He pitched in the World Series last year and wore a uniform during that stint. He also likes wooden Indians.

Sam Cohen runs a San Francisco restaurant. He has a wooden Indian and a yen for that World Series uniform.

Stories Differ
Both Sam and Lew agree that they met and talked in Cohen's eatery in June. But after that their stories move in different directions.

Sam says Lew bet his World Series uniform against Sam's Indian that Milwaukee would sweep a 3-game series with the San Francisco Giants that was beginning the day of their meeting. They didn't sweep it.

On the other hand, Lew says the agreement included only his World Series sweatshirt and spikes against the Indian. It wasn't a bet, Lew insists, just an agreement to swap the commodities if the Braves took three games.

Sam's an insistent guy. While Lew was warming up prior to pitching Milwaukee to a 12-3 victory Monday over the San Francisco Giants, a process server walked out on the field and shoved what he said was a subpoena claiming "breach of contract" under Lew's nose.

Burdette, thinking about Giants and not wooden Indians, continued to warm up as an umpire and a stadium policeman led Sam's messenger from the field, still with the papers.

Sam hasn't been heard from since.

Lew had a few final words: "We didn't win three, I didn't get the Indian and he doesn't get the sweatshirt and the shoes."

Lew said he felt Sam did get something for his trouble—publicity. "I think he got enough, don't you?" he asked.

In two Appleton Recreation department adult softball league makeup games Monday night, Riverside edged Interlake, 4-2, in the American Industrial league, and SSAC won by virtue of a forfeit over Company D in the Fraternal league.

Riverside handed Interlake its first loss of the season and advanced into a first-place tie with the losers. Riverside's Norm McIntyre and Interlake's Bob Diener hooked up in a pitchers' duel until the bottom of the sixth, when Riverside broke a 1-1 tie with three runs.

McIntyre allowed only two hits, but walked eight, while Diener walked no one.

SSAC remained in fourth place with its win.

San Francisco Process Server Fails To Get to First Base With Burdette

San Francisco — (A) — Lew Burdette is not taking any wooden Indians. Nor is he giving away any baseball uniforms, no matter how many process servers Sam Cohen sends around.

Burdette pitches for the Milwaukee Braves, a tribe of non-wooden Indians in the National League. He pitched in the World Series last year and wore a uniform during that stint. He also likes wooden Indians.

Sam Cohen runs a San Francisco restaurant. He has a wooden Indian and a yen for that World Series uniform.

Stories Differ
Both Sam and Lew agree that they met and talked in Cohen's eatery in June. But after that their stories move in different directions.

Sam says Lew bet his World Series uniform against Sam's Indian that Milwaukee would sweep a 3-game series with the San Francisco Giants that was beginning the day of their meeting. They didn't sweep it.

On the other hand, Lew says the agreement included only his World Series sweatshirt and spikes against the Indian. It wasn't a bet, Lew insists, just an agreement to swap the commodities if the Braves took three games.

Sam's an insistent guy. While Lew was warming up prior to pitching Milwaukee to a 12-3 victory Monday over the San Francisco Giants, a process server walked out on the field and shoved what he said was a subpoena claiming "breach of contract" under Lew's nose.

Burdette, thinking about Giants and not wooden Indians, continued to warm up as an umpire and a stadium policeman led Sam's messenger from the field, still with the papers.

Sam hasn't been heard from since.

Lew had a few final words: "We didn't win three, I didn't get the Indian and he doesn't get the sweatshirt and the shoes."

Lew said he felt Sam did get something for his trouble—publicity. "I think he got enough, don't you?" he asked.

In two Appleton Recreation department adult softball league makeup games Monday night, Riverside edged Interlake, 4-2, in the American Industrial league, and SSAC won by virtue of a forfeit over Company D in the Fraternal league.

Riverside handed Interlake its first loss of the season and advanced into a first-place tie with the losers. Riverside's Norm McIntyre and Interlake's Bob Diener hooked up in a pitchers' duel until the bottom of the sixth, when Riverside broke a 1-1 tie with three runs.

McIntyre allowed only two hits, but walked eight, while Diener walked no one.

SSAC remained in fourth place with its win.

Ford Captures 3-Hitter, 5-0; Boston Tops Tribe, Takes 2nd

By The Associated Press
Is this the year "Whitey" Ford, the New York Yankees' stubby southpaw, finally wins 20? He seldom has looked better since coming up in 1950 and supplying the push Manager Casey Stengel needed for the second of his eight American league pennants.

In his best season, 1956, he won 19. Arm trouble held him to an 11-5 record last year.

Longest Budge
Ford is 11-4 now, tying a teammate Bob Turley for the AL shutout lead with four by blanking the Chicago White Sox, 5-0, Monday night on three hits.

The runaway Yankees pushed 13 games ahead, their longest budge of the season, as Boston reclaimed second place with a 4-3 decision over Cleveland in 10 innings and Detroit slipped to third with a 2-1 defeat at Baltimore. Jack Urban, a one-time Yankee farm hand, shut out Washington, 4-0, on four hits as the Kansas City A's ended their losing streak at six.

Wall Is Winner
The Red Sox, who scored two in the third for a 2-1 lead with the help of a wild pitch and two passed balls, wrapped it up as reliever Don Mossi walked one to load the bases, then walked pinch hitter Ted Lepcio on a 3-2 pitch that forced in the winner, Murray Wall (4-7) won. Jim Mudcat Grant lost it in relief for a 6-8 record.

Bob Boyd scored both Baltimore runs, doubling and counting on Gene Woodling's single in the first and bagging it with his fifth homer in the eighth. "Hec" Brown (3-0) won it, blanking the Tigers on five hits over the last 8 1-3 innings. Herb Moford (0-2) was the loser.

Urban, never beaten by the Senators, gained a 7-5 record with his first major league shutout and fourth victory over Washington since breaking in last season. The A's hit loser Pete Ramos (7-7) for three runs in the first on Preston Ward's 2-run double and an RBI single by Harry Simpson.

Raiders Pound Foxes, 15-6, In Menasha

Botz managed to stagger through nine innings to his second victory in four decisions.

Fox Cities starter Don Cameron had a personal 3-game winning streak broken. He yielded seven runs on six hits in the first two innings and was followed by Earl Furlow and Ernie Stinsa.

Furlow, who went into the game with a string of 7 and 2-3 straight scoreless innings in relief, was no problem. He yielded six runs on seven hits in two frames. Stinsa gave up the final two runs in a commendable 5-inning stint.

Hits No. 15
Carlos "Potato" Pascual, the league's leading hitter, showed Menasha fans why he has been chosen the league's All-Star game third baseman. He had a brilliant 5-for-5 evening.

Pascual smacked his fifteenth homer of the season, a double and three singles as he boosted his unofficial batting average from .361 to a smoking .377.

"Potato" injured his finger fielding a ground ball in the second inning and moved to right field in the top of the fourth.

Pascual's homer was his third in four nights. Nisewonger unloaded his second round tripper in three nights and his eighth of the season just after Pascual hit his in the seventh.

Jim's went over approximately the same spot on the left field fence though about 20 feet further than Pascual's 315-foot swat.

The other three homers-No. 1 of the season for the Foxes' Don Dantoni and one each by Cedar Rapids' Bob "Hawk" Taylor and Wayne Cummings—were Chinese jobs which just cleared the friendly right field barrier.

7-Run Inning
The Foxes took a 1-0 lead in the first on Dantoni's line shot over the fence but Cedar Rapids roared ahead to stay in a 7-run second. Cummings' 3-run homer was the "big blow" in the frame. Taylor's homer counted another run and Dantoni's muf of a Taylor pop up later in the inning let two more come in.

Bob Van Dyke's single and a couple of errors made the count 7-2 in the last of the second. The Raiders made it 8-2 in the third when Botz's single counted Bob Knoop.

Singles by Nisewonger, Pascual, Tano and Van Dyke and a walk shaved the score to 8-4 in the last half of the inning but the Foxes stranded three runners in the frame.

Cedar Rapids got to Furlow for five runs in the fourth. Taylor and Sid Goldfader doubled, Dick Selinger, John Stratton and Joe Trenary singled,

No More Sacks: Women to Dress to Please Men

Fashion Will Take Many shapes this fall according to the style offerings being shown this week by New York couture designers. Spring's fashion darling—the sack—has been dropped in favor of more graceful unfitted silhouettes, with the high-waisted empire line the favorite variation. Tina Lesser shows a balloon effect, above left, in a printed wool challis which she terms a "powder puff" design. At right is a cocktail costume by Pauline Trigere. The two-piece middy dress in gold and red brocade is shown off by its voluminous red velvet coat designed with king-size collar. (AP Wirephotos)

Unfitted Silhouette

Editor's note: Here are two of five articles on the fall fashion showings this week in New York. The articles are being written by Dorothy Roe, Associated Press women's editor.

New York — The American woman may be shaped like a pear, a balloon, a bell, book or candle next fall.

Such are the shapes of fashion as previewed to the nation's fashion press today in the opening of a hectic week of fall showings by New York's couture group of designers.

Commentators avoid the use of the word "chemise" like a plague. But the unfitted silhouette, by many another name, is still the predominant influence in the fall fashion lineup, with the high-waisted empire silhouette the favorite variation.

Women who have been afraid of their husbands ever since the arrival of the potato bag silhouette may take comfort in the fact that new fall fashions offer many versions of the no-waistline look. Designers have modified and adapted the more bizarre styles to suggest at least, if not accent, the lines of the human body.

Although belts never appear at the natural waistline and seem to be added as afterthoughts, they are present and accounted for, placed just below the bust or anywhere from the hips to the hem.

The empire silhouette takes various forms. As a "camisole," it features a soft, slender line, with drawstrings at neckline and just below the bust. As a directoire silhouette, it may have a high sash and flowing skirt. As a trapeze, it may flare sharply, pyramid style, from shoulders to hemline.

Reveal Knees
Skirts are shorter than ever, revealing the knees, and posing difficulties in sitting or stepping into taxicabs.

Suits have brief bolero jackets or short, boxy jackets ending at waist or hipbone, with most skirts attached to a bodice to achieve the important high-waisted, loose look. Even in suits, few skirts hang from the natural waistline. Suit blouses are mostly overblouses ending just below the bust, usually done in matching or coordinated fabric, sometimes matching the jacket lining.

The new fashions demand new attitudes. You never, never cinch in your waistline, and you learn to walk with that slinky, debaucher slouch popular in the 1920s. Your costume should not touch your body except at the shoulders and perhaps the hipline. The waist is sternly ignored.

You don't throw out your chest, either. Rather, you cave it in, apologetically, and slither rather than walk into a room. You have to learn to cross your legs without hiking your skirt up to the waist, and this is a serious problem.

Major silhouettes include: the empire, the chemise, the trapeze, the balloon, the bubble, the pear, the scythe, the blouse, the long torso, the globe, the middy and the harem.

For Gala Evenings, Trigere shows his red velvet full-length ball gown styled with an empire silhouette. The gown's brief bolero is gold embroidered and spiked with imitation stones. The empire line is one of 12 major shapes to be found in the fall collections of American designers.

Empire Line Popular

New York — This is the year for the men, says globe-trotting designer Hannah Troy, presenting a collection of strictly feminine fall fashions for the nation's fashion press.

The new clothes for fall shown by Mrs. Troy and most other New York couture designers, prove that women do dress to please men, after all. The loud cries of male anguish which greeted this summer's sack gowns, which made most women look like an unmade bed, have been heeded by the gals who set the pace for American fashions.

So there are no more shapeless chemises in view, no more of the grotesque silhouettes which suggested national mass pregnancy. Instead designers have shaped and modified the unfitted silhouette into such a variety of styles that any woman should be able to find a flattering wearable outfit for fall.

High-Waisted Empire
Most popular with Mrs. Troy and others slated to preview fall collections this week is the high-waisted empire line. It is shown in both slim and flared versions, with accents just below the bust in the form of loose belts, bands or other trimming.

For calculated allure, consider Hannah's short evening dress in ice blue satin, with "pouffant" skirt and ostrich hemline, both with a matching coat. "Now that women are showing their legs again," says Mrs. Troy, "interest shifts to the hemline—and can you imagine anything more intriguing than a moving, fluttering fringe of ostrich about a pair of beautiful American legs?"

Modified Trapeze
Male designers also go along with the more feminine, graceful look for fall, including Paul Parnes, who shows a series of new-looking and wearable costumes combining fur-collared tweed jackets with slim empire dresses.

The collection at the New York house of Christian Dior, the second designed by young Yves St. Laurent, features the "liberty line," and tends toward modifications of his trapeze silhouette of last spring. The clothes are youthful and in most cases highly wearable, with big-collared, bulky coats and jackets shown for daytime wear.

In the suit collections jackets are short and unfitted, with wide draped collars, big bows and other neckline accents. Sometimes fabric bands are used belt-wise on jackets to accent the high-waisted line.

Short Evening Gowns
There are many short evening gowns with dome or bell-shaped skirts, many with a huge bow and sash at the bust, front and center, with trapeze drape falling from shoulders to hem in back.

Monte-Sano and Pruzan, the high priests of the tailored suit, and coat, build a high-waisted look subtly into both suits.

Picnics, Business Meetings Highlight Family Reunions

Hatten Memorial park, New London, was the site of the 24th annual Rusch family reunion held Sunday. About sixty members attended the potluck dinner which was followed by a recreation program.

Re-elected officers are Walter Rusch, president; Herman Kramer, vice president; Mrs. Walter Raschke, secretary; Arnold Hoefts, treasurer, and Mrs. Alfred Pomerene, reporter.

Mrs. Kramer, Mrs. Walter Kuehl, Mrs. Ervin Seefeld and Mrs. Victor Kiesow provided the entertainment. Calvin Pomerene was in charge of refreshments and Wallace Wendt secured the picnic site.

During the past year, sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rozelle, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Gorges and to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Timm. There was one marriage, James Pomerene who wed the former Doris Almeida, Corvallis, Ore. The late Augusta Pomerene, New London, was the last member of the original Rusch family.

The 25th reunion will take place at Hatten park next year with Walter Kuehl, serving as master of ceremonies for a special program. Mr. Wendt will arrange the picnic location. Mr. Gorges will handle refreshments and entertainment will be planned by Mrs. Ted Raschke.

New members added to the roster are Gregory Franks, William Merkel and Julie Sassman, all of Appleton.

Out-of-town guests included the Rev. Alvin Schabow and family, Algona.

After the business meeting a picnic supper was held at the Otto Stengal cottage, Lake Winneconne.

Next year's reunion will be held on the second Sunday of July.

In Good Taste Tell Bride What Gift Was Sent

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine was married recently and I sent her a very beautiful silver tray. I received a thank-you note from her this morning thanking me for the "love-cigarete box." I sent her, I think a dispute on the subject of whether we may speak to men her an especially nice present and women with whom we because of the many favors she has done for me. Evidently the cards were mixed in some way. Many of us take the same bus-ness, for example, and little by-little we have come to know ent I would like her at least to each other by sight. Before making friends, is an introduction always necessary? Answer: Do whatever is the simple and unself-conscious thing. Seeing the same person say after day, one would be more than likely to say "Good morning." This is not a rule. It is one of those things that one does spontaneously. Sometimes Necessary Dear Mrs. Post: What do you think of people who don't answer the doorbell when visitors call? Isn't it rude — especially when the visitors know that someone is in the house? Answer: There may be many reasons why they can't receive people at that particular time, and the only thing they can do is not to answer the doorbell.

BETSY AND ME

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

In yesterday's column we tried to emphasize that it is often absurd to refrain from doubling, simply because the opposing contract is for less than game and the double might (repeat, might) put the enemy "out." A sound double is just the contract, and there should be only a slight tightening-up of the requirements for doubling part-score contracts—not a renunciation of such doubles!

Needless to say, however, there is another side to this picture, as for example:

North, dealer
East-West vulnerable.
NORTH
S-7 6
H-J 10 7 6
D-A 2
C-A J 9 6 2
WEST EAST
S-A 10 8 3 S-4 2
H-9 5 H-A K Q 8 4 2

This deal occurred in the principal pair event of the recent Eastern Tournament in New York, and it produced quite a variety of results. The East-West pair that did the worst on "out." A sound double is just the contract, and there should be only a slight tightening-up of the requirements for doubling part-score contracts—not a renunciation of such doubles!

even have an average hand in high cards, and granting him at least two tricks in spades, there was still no good reason to think that the best possible East-West score would come from a contract of two spades doubled. If West insisted on being aggressive, two no trump had more in its favor. However, all this talk about West becomes relatively unimportant when we consider East's leave-in of the double. That action was indefensible. It had been quite all right for East to open the bidding very lightly because of his good major suit, but leaving in a low-level double with such tenuous defensive strength was another matter. East should have bid three hearts and West should pass to that takeout. The doubled two-spade contract could have been held to eight tricks (for a very bad East-West score) but South was allowed to make an extra trick, for an East-West zero.

Argentine Quints Hold Birthday Reunion at Buenos Aires Home

Buenos Aires —P— The world's only surviving quintuplets turned 15 today and Papa Franco Diligenti is letting them have one of their rare reunions in honor of the occasion.

The three Diligenti girls and two boys were due home today from their separate English boarding schools. Their birthday party will be a huge fiesta Saturday at the family's suburban estate, with relatives flocking to Buenos Aires from as far away as Italy and Canada.

It's a specially big day for the female quints, who in accordance with Latin-American custom move into the "seniorita" category at 15.

Firm Father

The wealthy, strong-willed father has firm ideas about rearing the quints. Six years ago he sent them off to five different schools. Since then they have seen each other only during holidays.

"They ganged up on us," he explained. "Their squad behavior meant they defied discipline and any corrective influence from outside."

Now each of the youngsters has a separate circle of friends. They seem to be typical bright, unspoiled teenagers, liking jazz, rock 'n' roll, the movies. Bob Wagner, Frank Sinatra, Elizabeth Taylor, Laurence Olivier and Maria Schell.

Fluent Linguists

All speak fluent Italian, their parents' native tongue; Spanish, English and a smattering of French. Some say they want to go to English colleges but one of the boys indicates he would like to attend a U.S. university.

By name they are Franco, Carlos Alberto, Maria Esther, Maria Cristina and Maria Fernanda.

Around the house they like to speak English among themselves to tease their father. He doesn't understand the language.

Kept Birth Secret

Diligenti came to Argentina from Italy as a penniless 27-year-old immigrant. Now a wealthy, retired industrialist, he has been able to ignore the hundreds of commercial offers which brought the Dionne quintuplets fortune and life in a goldfish bowl.

The birth of the five Diligentis was kept a secret for eight months. The mother, then 41, went to the home of midwife Angelita Delfino for the birth, a common practice in Argentina. She had had three previous children, including one surviving member of triplets, and multiple births were frequent in her Roman family. But she and Diligenti, then 44, were not expecting anything unusual.

Mrs. Delfino delivered the first four babies within 20 minutes of each other but Maria Esther appeared an hour after the others. Two of the children almost died at birth. The midwife improvised an incubator with hot water bottles, blankets and two kerosene stoves to save them. Five days after the birth, Mrs. Diligenti went home with the three stronger babies. The other two stayed in Mrs. Delfino's incubator for two months before they were taken home. The Argentine medical review later praised the midwife's work and "a doctor wasn't in my house for the first two years of their lives," Diligenti said.

He kept the multiple birth a secret for eight months, by registering only three of the babies and those in different offices, giving incorrect places of birth.

Our Children

Moderation Should Be Guide for Sun Bathing

BY ANGELO PATRI

Getting a tan seems to be one of the imperatives for our young people and too often that means a sunburn, usually one that hurts.

The human skin is an important organ of the body. It has to do that must be done if its possessor is to thrive in this world of woe. And woe it is for the unlucky youngster who, in his haste to acquire that "love-ly tan" blisters his skin. He won't sleep that night. And he won't feel too good the next day either.

The human skin is a delicate tissue. It is not a hide. Tanning it is not going to improve either its texture or its color. Certainly it will not improve its functions. Outdoor workers, sailors, farmers, those men and women who work the year round in the open take on a weather-worn look that is not achieved by a day's exposure of a tender year-round protected skin. It is the result of a long time, day-by-day association with wind and sun, rain and snow and all else the elements bestow.

Such a tan is nature's adjustment to the workers' situations and that sort of skin functions. Not so the hasty vacation burning of the skin.

Just why young people think that a lobster-red skin is something to be proud of, or why a deep brown color imposed upon a naturally pink and white skin is a mark of distinction, is puzzling to say the least.

Why should a pretty girl with an apple blossom skin lie on hot sand, or even on a hot tin roof as one did, to burn that skin off her nose? Anybody admiring a blistered, peeling nose these days?

Sunshine is healthy and the body needs it in moderation. Taken that way, a slow day by day dose, such as a sailor takes on his daily routine, will tone up the body. That does not mean that tanning the skin to a leatherlike texture and appearance is either healthy or by-day association with wind

Gold Ring Will Come Off Glass

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

QUESTION: I own a set of drinking glasses with a gold ring around the rim. With time and use the gold has faded away in spots. The glasses have a sentimental value and I'd like to keep on using them but they don't look very neat. Is there any possible way to remove this ring?

ANSWER: Try careful rubbing of the ring with a razor blade or coin. Moistening with paint remover may help; not always.

Woodwork Chips QUESTION: All the woodwork in our house is white and seems to have had 4 or 5 coats of paint. If it is bumped by a chair or anything it chips off. We would like to do it over. How can we remove the paint?

ANSWER: An electric sanding machine would be the easiest way. Or you can use a prepared paint remover (available at paint and hardware stores), following label instructions carefully. Be sure to remove all the paint down to the bare wood, and have surface smooth and free of dust before refinishing.

Stains on Cement QUESTION: We were given some ornamental iron railing which was rusted. It was laid down on our cement porch floor before being put up and left for some time. How can the rust stains on the cement be removed? Will the railing have to be painted every year?

ANSWER: To remove the rust stains, use the following method: Dissolve 1 part sodium citrate in 6 parts of water, adding 6 parts of commercial glycerin. Mix a portion of this with enough powdered whiting or other absorbing powder to form a paste. Spread a thick layer of the paste over the stains. When this dries, replace with fresh paste, or moisten with the remaining liquid. For stubborn stains, a week or longer may be required for complete removal. How often the railing has to be painted depends upon both the kind of paint used and local weather conditions. For a dead - black finish, applying asphaltum paint gives long weather resistance.

A Hat Show on the City playgrounds proved a lot of fun for the young ladies. Here, Mada Joy Kruckeberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kruckeberg, 1117 W. Kamps avenue, gets her creation adjusted by Doreen Wenzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wenzel, 1525 N. Elinor street. Mada Joy's hat was made of lampshade, net, ribbon and flowers; Doreen's of small pie tin and radishes. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Park to Have Boating, Picnic, Beach Areas

Conservation Club Told of Plans for High Cliff Project

Proposed development of the lower area of High Cliff State Forest park was outlined to members of the Outagamie County Conservation club Monday night at the organization's farm.

The approximate 45-acre development includes a permanent small boat landing, a central picnic area, a bathing beach and a recreation field. Parking facilities will be developed in each of the three major units. There will be parking areas large enough to take both cars and boat trailers in the boating facility. Plans have been approved by the department but still must be formally okayed by the conservation commission.

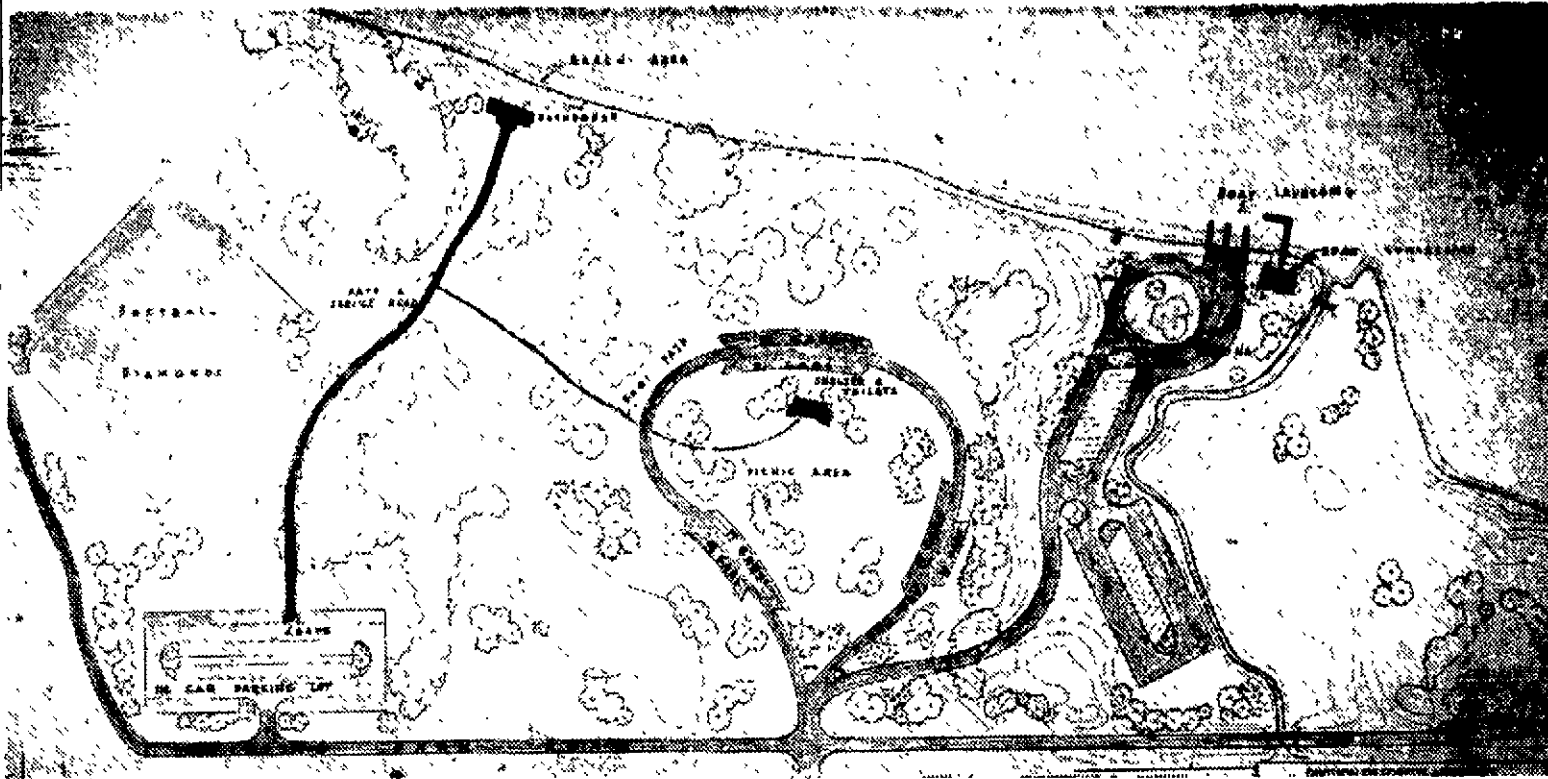

The plans were presented by three members of the state conservation department, Clyde Smith, Campbellsport, area park supervisor, and Robert Espeeth and Erwin Malin, Madison, landscape architects.

$4,500 for Boat Landing
Smith pointed out that funds being raised by conservation clubs and outdoor groups in the Fox river area will be used for the boat landing facilities. The roadways, parking lots and shelters will be built by the state with available funds. It is believed, he said, the state also will contribute some funds to the boat landing.

The goal in the 4-county drive for funds is set for $4,500, with $665 already in, according to a preliminary check-up. Work on boat landing will begin as soon as sufficient money is raised locally, Smith said.

The plans also call for a bath house in the section set aside for a bathing area. This may be financed from funds raised two years ago by the High Cliff Forest park association.

At the present time, the park area along the lower cliff road is used for picnicking. The three

This is what High Cliff State Forest park will look like along the lower cliff road if conservation department plans go through. Final plans for the area were presented Monday night at the Outagamie County Conservation club. At the right is the boat marina, with the proposed small boat landing, roadway and parking areas. A picnic area with its circling driveway equipped with parking lots and shelter will be on high land in the center. At the left is a 114-car parking lot with a broad footpath leading to the bathing beach. At the far left is a softball and recreation area. Plans still have to be accepted by the conservation commission. (Conservation Department Map)

No Quick Plan For Industrial Park Seen

Committee Seeks Studies of Zoning, Taxes, Annexations

A development plan for an Appleton industrial park won't be drafted overnight, Appleton Industrial Development corporation directors were told Monday.

W. E. Schubert, of the corporation's committee on industrial park studies, said the committee's preliminary studies have convinced committeemen that "as of now they are not properly equipped to make a decision which may be best for the corporation and best for the city over the years ahead."

In a general way, the corporation is going to have to find out what similar corporations in other cities are offering and then offer more, Schubert said. That industrial development is a highly competitive field cannot be overstressed, he said.

Need Cooperation
Schubert said when he talks of industrial development he refers more specifically to expansion by area industries than to expansion from new industries.

He said the committee is convinced continuing studies will have to stem from a loosely organized cooperation with municipal groups and planning organizations like the state and county highway commissions and the regional planning commission.

Schubert called for special committees to study zoning regulations in and outside the city, the city's annexation policy and city taxes.

Corporation President
George Howden indicated he will take the suggestions under advisement.

Asks For Studies
Schubert also called for studies of industrial growth in Appleton over the last 10 years, new products manufactured locally which have been developed since World War II, the increase of automation and its effect on warehousing needs.

Schubert said the proposed annexation of territory west of the city to Highway 41 and between the Fox river and W. Wisconsin avenue was the best idea to date to speed industrial expansion.

Both Schubert and Otto A. Hansen agreed some assessment break should be given owners of undeveloped, unplatted farmland inside the city, a move which would encourage development.

Industry Overcrowded
Only 4.12 per cent of Appleton land is zoned for heavy industrial use, Schubert reported. With the result that many industries are overcrowded and need new sites. Zoning regulations, he indicated, should provide industry enough room.

He said the beauty of industrial buildings today makes them no more objectionable in a well-planned residential neighborhood than schools.

The city, he said, will have an excellent opportunity for planned development if the area west of the city does annex. Then, he said, the city will be able to set aside park, school, industrial and residential areas.

Next meeting of the directors will be Aug. 12 at Buttes des Morts Golf club.

Civil Defense Director Speaks to Y's Men Club
Robert Beltrone, Appleton director of civil defense, has told the Appleton Y's Men's club of what he called apparent national apathy toward civil defense as far as the individual is concerned.

He urged families to familiarize themselves with measures to be taken in case of disaster.

Hortonville Youth Pays Fines Totaling $300 for Big Weekend

A Hortonville youth found out today that buying beer for minors cost him $250 and two raucous times cost him $25 a trip after a session with Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg.

Lloyd Moder, 19, was charged with offenses by three different law enforcement officers for his activities Saturday and Sunday. State Patrolman Arch Zabel charged Moder with buying beer for 16 and 17-year-old boys, Hortonville Police Chief Ira Dominowski charged him with disorderly conduct Saturday in the town of Hortonville and Dale Marshal Bertschy Hauk charged him with disorderly conduct in Dale Sunday.

Zabel's charge developed after a 17-year-old was arrested for reckless driving and told the state patrolman where he got beer.

Dominowski's charge stemmed from Moder's throwing gravel at sleeping Mexican workers about 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

Hauk's charge resulted after Moder threw bottles and broke them near Hauk in Dale Sunday.

Moder was sent to Outagamie county jail, when he couldn't pay the fine.

Moder's record shows disorderly conduct convictions and fines in New London and Waupaca county on Sept. 7, 1956; Oct. 15, Nov. 15 and Nov. 22, 1957, and last Thursday.

Lawyer Gets Criticism From Judge

Kenneth Traeger, a Gresham attorney and Democratic candidate for Seventh district congressman, was criticized by a federal judge in Milwaukee Monday for not informing the court sooner that his clients had decided not to contest a charge before a jury.

Judge Kenneth P. Grubb called the situation "inexcusable" after Traeger called him Monday from Gresham shortly before the trial was to have started.

The trial called off involved Ira and Maxine Hoffman, a Gresham farm couple sued by the federal government on a claim that they owed $1,348 for a Federal Housing administration home improvement loan.

Traeger said he didn't hear of Hoffman's decision until Saturday night and was unable to notify the judge until Monday. Grubb said 27 prospective jurors had been impaneled and he had set aside four days for the trial.

The judge granted the government a default judgment against the Hoffmans.

Fire Perils Elkhart Lake Lumber Plant

Elkhart Lake — A fire broke out early this afternoon in a combined furniture and lumber firm in the heart of this Sheboygan county resort town. A correspondent reported that it "looks serious."

Flames were reported shooting from the roof of the Laun Lumber and Furniture Co. buildings. The retail furniture store faces the main street in downtown Elkhart Lake.

The lumber warehouse, also reported burning, is behind the furniture store.

Firemen were attempting to keep the flames from spreading to the Keil service station next to the store.

Fire equipment reportedly was on the way from nearby Plymouth, Kiel, New Holstein and other communities.

"You have to learn to walk..."

they say, "before you can run." Or put another way, "First things first!" Yet how often people tell us they want a policy on a new child or on the child's mother before the first need has been adequately met. This prime need is for ample coverage on the father's life. Without him family income can stop, family living standards tumble. And believe us, the few thousand dollars of life insurance he may now own would fall far short of "ample coverage" at today's prices. We would be pleased to help you determine your realistic needs in keeping with current living costs. No obligation of course.

Mideast Oils Down Sharply
Moderate Losses For Rest of List In Active Trading

New York—International oils were battered for the second straight day as the rest of the stock market took moderate losses in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Oils with interests in the Middle East fell from one to about three points. Domestic oils rose a little. Most other key stocks were down fractions to about a point.

News that the U. S. Marines had landed in Lebanon came before the market opened and caused renewed uncertainty in Wall Street. Big blocks of the international oils were sold hastily and the ticker tape lagged for 10 minutes.

Coming on the heels of Monday's market break—the steepest of the year—today's decline was moderate and there were some firm spots among selected issues.

Gulf Oil dropped about three points. Royal Dutch, Socony-Mobil and Standard Oil New Jersey were down more than a point.

Amerasia and Richfield advanced more than a point apiece.

Losses of around a point were taken by American Telephone, Du Pont, Goodrich, American Can and Goodyear.

Horse Stories Featured Among Children's Books

A collection of stories by members of the Western Writers of America, "The Wild Horse Round-Up," edited by Jim Kjelgaard, is featured in the children's room of the Appleton Public Library and will be available for circulation Thursday.

Most of the stories have appeared previously in magazines.

New non-fiction books are "Arctic World" by Fuller, "The True Book of Weeds and Wildflowers" by Podendorf, "Antoine Lavoisier" by Riedman, "The First Book of Cotton" by Rogers, and "Swamp Life" by Rounds.

Fiction selections for intermediate readers are "Clutch Hitter" by Bee, "Increase Rabbit" by McCreedy, "The Guns of Vicksburg" by Miers, "The Minnow Leads to Treasure" by Pearce, "Gunilla" by Viksten, and "Offshore Summer" by Wright.

Books for readers in the primary department are "Buck-

Volumes Feature Lives Of Noted English Figures

The lives of some of the most noteworthy figures in centuries of English history are featured in two books on display now at Appleton Public Library. They will be released for circulation Friday.

In "The Churchills," A. L. Rowse treats the famous family from the time of the death of Marlborough to the present, spending the last third of the volume on Sir Winston.

"Intimate Letters of England's Queens," edited by Margaret Sanders, is intended more for its romantic and human appeal than historic value. The letters are those written by female English monarchs from Catherine of Aragon through Victoria.

New books with an international flavor are "All About Portugal" by Georgia Long, a practical tourists guide to the country; "The All-Italian Cookbook" by Wilma Reiva LaSasso, including more than 500 recipes tested by the author, and Christine Hotchkiss' personal narrative, "Home to Poland," the story of her return to her native country after being married to an American businessman.

Light Reading

For light summer reading the library has "How Can You Bear to Be Human?", a collection of illustrations, prose and occasional verse by Nicolas Bentley.

Books with a touch of biography are "Casey Stengel His Half Century in Baseball," by Frank Graham, Jr., and "The Phantom Major," by Virginia Cowles, the story of David Stirling and his desert command in North Africa in 1941.

"Free Time," edited by four University of Michigan staff club members, shows how a person can use his leisure to benefit himself and society. In "The Spirit of Man," Editor Whit Burnett has gathered personal observations of 40 noted personalities, including D. H. Lawrence, Albert Schweitzer, Helen Keller, William James and Pearl Buck.

"Beyond My Worth," by Lilian Roth, continues the story of the actress' life since publication of "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

Other Non-Fiction

Other new non-fiction selections are "Foreign Policy of the American People," by Charles O. Lerche, Jr., a readable account of its strengths and weaknesses; "Hinduism," a description and interpretation of the religion by Swami Nikhila nanda; and "Shop Tools: Care and Repair," by DeWitt Hunt.

New fiction selections include a mystery by Dorothy Salisbury Davis, "A Gentleman Called," and "The Reach of Fear," by D. L. Mathews, a story of suburban people who feared there was a murderer among them.

Those with foreign settings are Una Troy's "Miss Maggie and the Doctor," set in the Irish seaside village of Ballybeg; and "The Gypsy Condesa" by Gordon Langley Hall, based on the eccentric late 19th century Spanish Condesa de Mendoza.

Other books on the fiction shelf are "Gingerbread Man" by Ellen Ferber, "The Magic Barrel" by Bernard Malamud, "Seidman and Son" by Elick Moll, "A Fine and Private Place" by Ann Hebbson, and "Wind Rose" by Helen Hull.
